ALLIES REPLY TO PRES. WILSON'S PEACE NOTE

Its Friendly Tone Toward United States Intentions Please the Officials

SEVERE TO THE TEUTONS

And Gives No Hope For An Early Peace, But Leaves the Door Ajar

Washington, Jan. 11.—Outlining sharply the war intentions of the allied nations and stating at considerable length the only terms upon which peace may be reached, the entente reply to President Wilson's peace note, made public by the state department, declares:

"It is impossible, at the present time, to attain peace, which will assure the allied nations reparation, restitution and guarantees to which they are entitled by the aggressions of the central powers."

The note, which arrived from Paris, today, and included additional documents from the Belgian government, is regarded here as putting an early peace out of the question, but as still leaving an open door for President Wilson to make further efforts.

German diplomats regard the reply as even more severe than they expected.

The German note to neutrals, published simultaneously with the entente reply, is a distinct surprise. It is characterized as a prepared address, timed to offset the statement of entente aims.

The friendly tone of the entente note and consideration for American intentions pleased officials here.

In setting forth its intentions in terms, the entente says:

"The civilized world knows that they imply a restoration of Belgium, Serbia. Montenegro and indemnities due them. The evacuation of the invaded portions of France, Russia and Rumania, with just reparation. The reorganization of Europe, with full security of all nations. The liberation of Italians, Slavs and Rumanians from foreign domination, and the expulsion of the Ottoman empire from Europe."

The note says that the intentions of the Russian emperor toward Poland have already been set forth in a "document which asserts that there is no intention of exterminating the German people," and concludes:

"The allies are determined to act with all their power to bring to a victorious close the conflict in which they are convinced their own safety and also future civilization depend."

Extracts From the Note.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The Belgian note declares that it desires to see the war ended as much as does the president, but Belgians cannot make peace until her future security is assured.

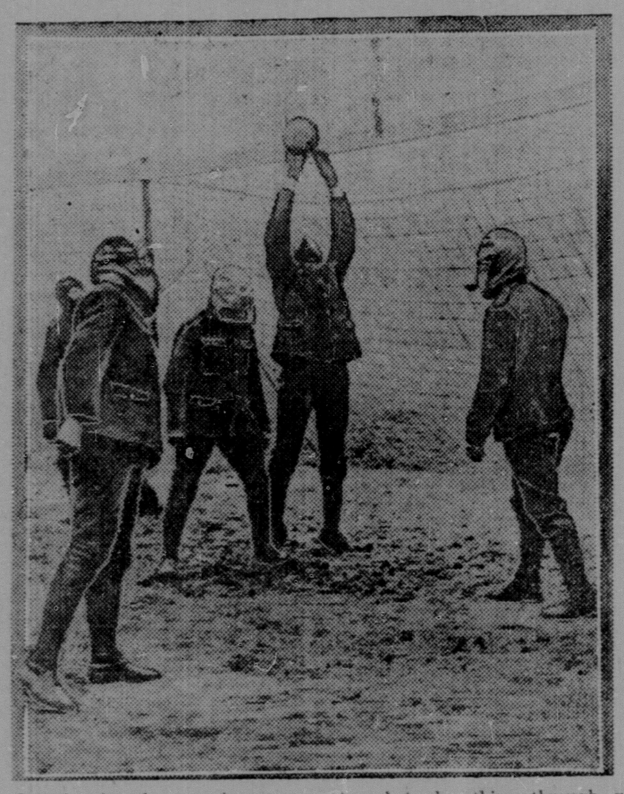
In speaking of the German attitude during the war, the entente note declares that "it is an established fact the war was a wilful aggression of Germany and Austria to insure their hegamony over Europe and their economic domination of the world."

"Germany has proved by her declaration of war, her invasion of Belgium and Luxemburg and her manner of conducting the war her contempt for the principles of humanity and of all respect for small states."

The note asks, "Is it necessary to recall the horrors which accompanied the invasion of Belgium, the massacre of hundreds of thousands of Armenians, the raids of Zeppelins on open towns, the destruction of passenger liners by submaring the judicial murders of Edith Cavel and Captain Fryatt, the deportation of civilians?"

"The execution of these series of crimes fully explains to President Wilson the protests of the allies. They consider that the note sent to the United States in response to Germany will be a response to the question put by the American government."

PRACTICE WEARING GAS MASKS IN ACTION



In order that they may become accustomed to breathing through gas masks while in strenuous action the Royal Fusiliers in the British trenches in France have taken to football playing in them. On those occasions when it becomes necessary to wear masks very quick action is required. Football is the nearest thing to the kind of action then practised.

THAW TRIES SUICIDE TO ESCAPE ARREST

Slashes Throat and Wrists With Razor While Detectives Wait For Him

NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

He Will Go Back to Answer the Charges Which He Calls Blackmail

Philadelphia, Jan. 11.—Harry Thaw, under indictment in New York with two so-called body guards for an alleged attack on Frederick Gump, Jr., a Kansas City high school boy, attempted suicide in a house in West Philadelphia today by slashing his throat and cutting his wrists with a razor.

Physicians said tonight that his condition is not serious and he will be out in a week or two.

Through his counsel it is understood he had agreed to return to New York and go through the ordeal of a trial "rather than let the police catch him and treat him like an ordinary prisoner."

Thaw regarded the Gump charges as an attempt at blackmail, according to Samuel Maloney, a detective who had been hired to watch Thaw's interests here.

It was Maloney who notified the police today that Thaw was in a house in West Philadelphia.

Thaw refused to make a statement in the hospital tonight.

BRITISH DRIVING THE TURKS BEFORE THEM

On the Right Bank of the Tigris and Inflict Very Heavy Damage

RESULT IS UNCERTAIN

At Riga, Where Both Russians and Germans Claim Victories

Associated Press, Jan. 11.—Following their advance northeast of Kut-El-Amara, the British captured Turkish trenches on the right bank of the Tigris river, inflicting heavy casualties, according to London.

The British reports also say that sixteen hundred Turks were captured by the British advance into Sinai peninsula, thirty miles north of Arish, in Egypt.

Heavy fighting with divergent reports as to the result continues in the region of Riga, in northwest Russia.

Petrograd claims an advance in the vicinity of Lake Babit.

Berlin reports all Russian attacks repulsed.

Petrograd admits that the Russo-Rumanians have retired further into the Oitzu, Kassina and Suchitza regions, but claims that the Teutons crossing the Outna river in Moldavia have been beaten back across that stream.

The British battleship Cornwallis and the seaplane Ben Mc Chree have been destroyed in the Mediterranean by hostile submarines.

It is announced that the new British war loan will be issued at ninety-five and will bear 5 per cent and run thirty years.

Greece has decided to comply with the terms of the entente ultimatum.

Germany Addresses Note To Neutrals Of World On Entente Peace Reply

Berlin, Jan. 11.—Germany has addressed neutrals concerning the reply of the entente to German peace proposals, the Overseas News Agency has announced.

The note says that the entente declined the Teutonic peace proposition in language which excluded an answer to them, but the imperial government considers it important to point out its opinion of the situation to neutrals.

Discussing the entente's assertion that the German proposals were without sincerity, stating that they were "war maneuvers," Germany and her allies protest vigorously against this characterization. The note says:

"Germany is persuaded that a peace, which would be just and acceptable to all belligerents, is possible, and that it could be brought about by an immediate spoken exchange of views, and that, therefore, the responsibility of further bloodshed could not be taken."

The note calls especial attention to the demand of the entente and objects of the war as outlined by various entente statesmen, which, it says, show that some efforts of the entente "are directed against the conquest of Alsace and Lorraine, and several Prussian provinces, the humiliation of Austria-Hungary and the partition and mutilation of Bulgaria."

The note accuses the entente of using colored troops contrary to the law of nations, barbarous treatment of prisoners and the deportation of the civil population of East Prussia and Galicia.

The Belgian situation and the history of the early events of the war are discussed.

In conclusion the note says:

"Our allies will continue the struggle in quiet confidence until a peace is gained which guarantees their nations' honors."

WILL DROP LEAK PROBE

Rules Committee Concludes Adverse Report On Investigation Resolution

Washington, Jan. 11.—Unless the republicans develop unexpected opposition, the adoption of the adverse report by the rules committee on Representative Wood's "leak" investigation resolution, the investigation will end tomorrow in the house.

The democratic members of the committee voted, today, to report unfavorably the Wood resolution and declining to bring for final vote another resolution by Representative Wood, for a general investigation.

The sub-committee appointed to draft contempt charges against Thomas W. Lawson for refusing to answer questions, continues in existence, and may act later.

Republicans say that today's action ends the proceedings.

INVITED PICKETERS INTO WHITE HOUSE TO GET WARMING

Washington, Jan. 11.—Winds swept the White House grounds so frigidly, today, that President Wilson invited the suffragists who are "picketing" the White House, to come in and get warm.

The invitation was not accepted, and the Congressional Union headquarters said that the vigil would be continued despite the predicted colder weather.

The president smiled as he passed through the gates to his morning golf.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Congressman Sears has recommended the appointment of Macon Thornton as postmaster at Ormond Beach, and Eleanor R. McKenna at Palm Beach.

The glass-bottomed boat Vidi leaves Elser pier at 10 a. m. tomorrow for the sea gardens, returning at 4:30 p. m. Trips will be made daily, weather permitting. Reduced rates given all patrons for box lunches right on pier.

GOV. STANLEY FACES MOB

And Protects Judge From Crowd Incensed At Postponement of Trial

Murray, Ky., Jan. 11.—Re-establishment of order through the personal efforts of Governor Stanley continues tonight after a period of excitement that threatened death to Circuit Judge Charles Bush and the commonwealth's attorney, Denny Smith, at the hands of a mob.

The mob was angered because the trial of Lube Martin, a negro charged with the murder of Guthrie Duiguid, had been postponed and the negro taken to Paducah.

The governor faced the mob before the hotel in which the judge had taken refuge, and declared that he would protect the judge with his own life.

He succeeded in quieting the mob.

FLORIDA GETS $1,106,200

For Improvement of the Waterways of State, With Four New Projects

(Special to The Herald.)

Washington, Jan. 11.—The rivers and harbors appropriation bill, part of which was completed by the house committee, today, contains appropriations of $1,106,200 for improvement of Florida waterways.

Provision is made in the bill for four new projects in Florida, $10,700 to be expended on Boca Ceiga bay; $300,000 on Tampa harbor; $100,000 on the Ocklawaha river and $47,000 on Kissimmee river.

The bill also makes provision for continuing the projects under way, maintaining the present navigable waters of Florida, and making surveys of other waterways with a view to their improvement.

To continue improvement of Miami harbor, Biscayne bay, $160,000 is provided.

The bill also provides for preliminary surveys of Canaveral harbor, Banana Creek, Little Sarasota bay, from Sarasota bay to Venice, Lake Worth inlet, Palm Beach county, and Charlotte harbor.

GOOD INCREASE CITRUS CROPS

Crop Estimates Announced By the U. S. Department of Agriculture

Gainesville, Fla., Jan. 11.—The bureau of crops estimates, United States department of agriculture announces the following results of a special citrus inquiry for the state of Florida, conducted by the field agent for that state, on January 1, 1917:

Conditions January 1st., indicated 77 per cent of a normal crop of oranges, 8,770 cars moved to this date, at 325 boxes per car, and adding 9.4 per cent for express, boat and less than car-lots is 3,118,173 boxes of oranges shipped to January 1st. 45 per cent of the crop was moved to this date forcasting a total crop of 6,784,220 boxes, an increase of about 450,000 boxes over the last report December 1, 1916.

This increase is accounted for (1) by improved weather conditions. Good rains causing the fruit to size up well, and (2) by good prices received bringing out more low grapefruit than would otherwise have been shipped. Many culls and drops that would have ordinarily been dumped, have been shipped at a profit.

Grapefruit on the other hand shows a decrease. The conditions January 1, being 62 per cent as against 70 per cent on December 1. 1945 cars shipped at 325 boxes per car and adding as for oranges 9.4 per cent for express, boat and less than car lots, is 1,608,241 boxes, compared with 1,892,210 on December 1, a decrease of 283,696 boxes. It is probable that the production of grapefruit was as much as forecasted in December, but the market was glutted with green fruit early in the season, killing demand and causing a consequent slump in prices. As a consequence, much fruit that might have been sold at a profit has been lost.

The final out turn of the crop will be greater or less than at present forecasted, according to weather and market conditions during the remainder of the season.

AGRICULTURAL EXPERTS ARE MIAMI VSITORS

Fred J. Blair, truck crop expert from the department of agriculture, H. A. Marks, his assistant, C. C. Hare, field agent for Florida for the department and R. M. Wilson, county demonstration agent for Palm Beach county, were in Miami yesterday on business.

They are traveling by automobile all over the state for the purpose of gathering statistics relating to the truck acreage.

Yesterday afternoon they went to Fort Lauderdale and from there will go to Fort Meyers and Tampa.

SOCIETY AT THE CAPITAL IS SHOCKED

Best People Met Young Woman Whose Companion is Jailed Under Mann Act

(Special to The Herald.)

Tallahassee, Jan. 11.—A. E. Brown, one of the proprietors of Cawthorn and Brown, pharmacists was arrested in a pool room, last night, charged with violating the Mann White slave act in bringing a woman from Thomasville, Ga., to Tallahassee, for immoral purposes.

His arrest was a complete surprise to him and to the entire community, as he was a highly esteemed young business man, having just opened here one of the handsomest stores in Florida.

When taken into the firm last August it is said he brought a young woman to J. C. Christian's boarding house, telling the proprietor that they had been secretly married at Thomasville, three weeks before. Since then they have lived together at this boarding house. He introducing her here as his wife.

He was released this morning on five hundred dollars bail.

Brown is alleged to have a wife in Texas whom he deserted four years ago. The woman also is said to be the wife of another man. It is claimed.

Tallahassee is shocked because "Mrs. Brown" had been presented to the best people of the city.

The hearing has been set for the twentieth.

TO COMPLETE PURCHASE OF DANISH WEST INDIES

Washington, Jan. 11.—According to official advices from Copenhagen the ratification by King Christian of the treaty providing for the sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States is to be dispatched on a steamer leaving Copenhagen today for New York.

The exchange of ratifications will mark the concluding step in the negotiations and the consummation of the deal will follow when congress makes the appropriation of $25,000,000, which is the purchase price stipulated in the treaty.

It is expected that the appropriation will be made at this session, but it is considered doubtful if the present congress will make any effort to create a permanent form of government for the newly-acquired possessions.

Before taking possession of the islands there are many details involved in the transfer to be worked out by the executive department of the government involving contracts and business concessions in the islands which the treaty guaranteed would be continued.

These will be adjusted, in all probability, together with a temporary form of government for the islands, which would prevail pending congressional action.

THOUSANDS OF LOADED SHELLS LOST

In Fire Which Kept Up Great Explosions For Over Three Hours

New York, Jan. 11.—The plant of the Canadian Car and Foundry Company near Kingsland, N. J., in which were stored hundreds of thousands of shells for the Russian government, was destroyed by fire and a series of explosions today lasting three hours.

So far as learned no one was killed although seventeen workmen are missing.

The loss is estimated at four million dollars.

It is estimated that nearly five hundred thousand shells exploded, but the caps had not been attached and the explosion did not cause battlefield havoc.

An investigation into the cause of the fire has begun.

Thousands fled from their homes with the first explosion which could be heard for miles.

MIAMI WILL BE VERY MUCH COOLER TODAY

A general cold wave has overspread the whole country east of the Rocky mountains and abnormally cold weather prevailed yesterday morning in the lake region, the central valleys and the southwest.

There were zero temperatures in the upper Mississippi valley and northern lake region, and freezing temperatures extended to central Texas and the northern parts of Mississippi and Alabama.

Frosts are likely to occur Thursday night in northern and central Florida and there will be a decided change to colder weather in the southern part of the peninsula. It is expected the temperature in Miami will be in the fifties today.

MIAMI WILL BE VERY MUCH COOLER TODAY

A general cold wave has overspread the whole country east of the Rocky mountains and abnormally cold weather prevailed yesterday morning in the lake region, the central valleys and the southwest.

There were zero temperatures in the upper Mississippi valley and northern lake region, and freezing temperatures extended to central Texas and the northern parts of Mississippi and Alabama.

Frosts are likely to occur Thursday night in northern and central Florida and there will be a decided change to colder weather in the southern part of the peninsula. It is expected the temperature in Miami will be in the fifties today.

The envelope containing the vote was placed with those from the other states which have arrived within the past three days and will be canvassed on February 14, at a joint session of the senate and house.

AUTO SHOW WILL BE FIRST OF ITS KIND

No Admission Fees Are to Be Charged—All Space Is Now Taken

Miami will not only have her first automobile show this winter, but the Magic City can boast of having had the very first automobile show in the country for which no admission fee is to be charged.

Mathew Elser, the owner of the new Elser pier, where the automobile show is to be held, has assured the public absolute free access to the auto salon which will eclipse anything of the kind that has ever been held in the state.

No expense will be spared for the decorations while the local automobile dealers guarantee a most up-to-date exhibit for a number of the cars and accessories at the Grand Central palace automobile show in New York, will be brought here.

Every single space in the Elser pier has been taken by local dealers and the first Miami exhibit will be a creditable one in every particular.

That more spaces are not taken is due solely to the fact that there are no vacant booths. Two applicants were turned down yesterday while several of the exhibitors have been unable to secure additional room for a more elaborate display of motor cars and accessories than was originally intended.

F. T. Wright, manager of the Elser pier, was busy yesterday directing arrangements for the show and the 7,000 square feet of floor space will all be in readiness for the opening on Monday, January 22.

The decorations will be extraordinary for more than 1,000 incandescents will illuminate the building. These lights are now being placed in position and the electrical demonstration will be the most gorgeous that has ever been seen in Miami.

Mr. Elser has also made the exhibitors' prices reasonable and for this reason there has been a clamoring for space at the show.

Arrangements are now being made for the engagement of an orchestra which will make its bow to the public on this particular occasion. The name of this organization will be announced just as soon as the contract has been signed and the finest musical program obtainable will be presented.

In connection with the upper floor of the pier, the management will shortly make an important announcement. It is the intention to present an attraction here, the nature of which has never before been seen in this section of the state. This will consist of some novelty features in the nature of some of the best professional dancers in the country.

While the management of the Elser pier is busy with the arrangements for opening the building in time for the show, the automobile exhibitors are making plans for their exhibits.

The automobiles to be displayed are the Buick, Elgin, Overland, Roamer, Hudson, Chevrolet, Cadillac, Saxon, Studebaker, Scripps-Booth and Republic truck.

The firms who have engaged space are: W. A. Hill, agent for the Hudson and Republic truck; J. K. Dorn, agent for the Studebaker and Saxon; L. A. Jones, Dodge car; H. Williams, Cadillac; Green & High Auto company, Scripps-Booth; C. Benton Dean, Chevrolet; Kirby Carter, Buick; W. T. Berner, Elgin; Herbert Lowe, Roamer, and J. T. Weathers, Overland.

In addition to the auto dealers the Miami Tire company and the East Coast Tire company will exhibit tires and accessories, while the Miami Insurance company will also have a space.

Many valuable souvenirs will be given away by the auto exhibitors.

REDS WON IN CONTEST FOR SALES HONORS

Celebration of Unique Victory For Enthusiastic Students, Last Night

As a climax to a breathless six weeks of endeavor the three teams of the Thrift Club of the Pan-American College of Commerce last night were given a banquet at the Wayside Inn in honor of the Reds, the winning team, by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Perry.

Ten volunteers for each team were chosen from the school and each team became a company, the Magic City Sales Company, The Biscayne Sales Company and the Fidelity Sales Company. These three teams, formed primarily for the purpose of giving the students actual practice in selling and all the necessary office accompaniments of selling, sold the commodity with which they were most familiar, that is, scholarships in the business college. Every morning the sales managers and their assistants laid out their plans for the day's selling and carried on the business with all the technicalities of card indexes, double entry bookkeeping and similar mysteries.

The final record of the teams as announced yesterday at the close of the contest were:

Magic City Sales Company, Arthur Sprugill, sales manager, Lavera Ging, assistant 103,820 points.

Fidelity Sales Co. Harry Hutto, sales manager, Marguerite Aylor, assistant, 88,370.

Biscayne Sales Company, Harold Soper, sales manager, Mildred Gibbons, assistant, 41,270 points.

With, therefore, the Magic City Sales company as the guests of honor the three tables for the three teams last night at the Wayside Inn were the setting for a very jolly banquet. Each table was lavishly decorated with its own colors while the three colors, the red, white and blue, were used for the small table where Mr. and Mrs. Perry sat.

After the dinner, Mr. Perry introduced Mrs. Douglas who gave a very short and informal little talk of congratulation to all of the teams on the spirit with which the work had been carried on. Mr. Perry then called upon the winning sales manager to tell how they won the contest and Mr. Spruill gave a most interesting account of their methods of work. Mr. Harry Hutto responded for the blue team, at the same time thanking his team for their excellent co-operation. In the absence of Mr. Harold Soper Miss Mildred Gibbons replied for the white team.

Others who gave short and interesting talks were Miss LaVera Ging, Miss Womeldorf, Mr. Larkins, Mr. Van Gelderen and Mr. F. M. Black.

The guests at Mr. and Mrs. Perry's table were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Black, and Mrs. Douglas, while the team members enjoying the banquet were the Misses Elizabeth Womeldorf, LaVera Ging, Emily Murray, Mae Jeffrey, Alice Hart, Audrey Perry, Claudia Dixon, Florence Jenkinson, Edna King, Gertrude Wilson, Dorothy Knight, Mildred Bivens, Helen Daniels, Mildred Gibbons, Clara Hunt, Mildred Shoemaker, Mamie Jones, Anna Crozier, Lessie Cumbie, Marguerite Aylor, Mrs. Elsie McGill.

Mrs. G. Malabre, and the Messrs. J. M. Van Gelderen, P. Arthur Spruill, James Larkins, Harry Hutto, Manuel Arevalo, John Castellano, Daniel Eby and Albert Hinman.

HARD WORK WON GAME

Seminoles Take Another From Fort Lauderdale in Basketball

The Seminole basketball team came back from Ft. Lauderdale last night with another scalp dangling from their belt, but it must be said for the Ft. Lauderdale players that the Indians had some trouble taking it, and it was only by the most strenuous playing on their part in the last few minutes of the game that the Seminoles finally overpowered their stalwart opponents.

The first half went decidedly against the Miami five, and Ft. Lauderdale fans believed the time had come at last when they would chalk up on the wall to their credit a victory over the redoubtable Seminoles. Thirteen to eight was the score when the first half ended, and Ft. Lauderdale fans shouted aloud in their glee, but when the second half began the Indians got themselves in hand and started an irresistable offense.

Goal after goal followed in rapid succession until just six minutes before the gong sounded, the Seminoles had tied the score at eighteen to eighteen.

Miami fans had been somewhat gloomy before this onslaught against the Ft. Lauderdale ranks, but they woke up and made the rafters ring when the Indians tied the score. About half of the spectators were Miamians, and they made more than half of the noise during the last few minutes of the game.

The contest ended with twenty-seven scores to the credit of the Miami five and five and twenty for Ft. Lauderdale.

TWO SMALL FIRES CALLED DEPARTMENT

The fire department responded to two alarms in different sections of the city yesterday and in either case the damage did not amount to more than $5.

An alarm from box 415 was caused by a brush fire in Edgewater early in the afternoon, while a small fire on the roof of an old building located on the south side of the Miami river and belonging to the Miami Fish company, called the department to that locality an hour later. The damage to the building did not exceed $5. The flames were caused by sparks from a chimney.

When the second fire alarm was sounded several pieces of fire apparatus responded on account of the locality, which is regarded as more serious, as there are a number of large buildings along the waterfront.

In both cases the firemen were called on the telephone and the alarms followed.

John Scott in an automobile ran ahead of Chief Chase on the way to the fire and delayed him. Officer Starling, who was riding with Mr. Chase arrested Scott for blocking traffic and he will be arraigned this morning.

The Man About Town

"Introductions?" she repeated in answer to a question.

"I don't need introductions in Miami."

She was an elderly woman, independent, spending the winter season here. Not the first time, either. It was evident that she "knew the ropes."

Seated on one of the benches in Royal Palm park the visitor talked to the newspaper man.

"Do you know," she said, "that one of the attractions of Miami to me is the ease with which people become acquainted. I come to this park every day to knit or write letters, and each day adds to my list of valued friends, because I count every person with whom I converse as a friend. Strangers talk to me without formality, and I talk to them. Frequently we do not even tell our names, but sometimes we find, by comparing notes, that we have lived or visited in the same sections of the country and that we are acquainted with the same people.

"There is a certain freedom in Miami which I like, and think it is because people coming here for a short while decide to leave their formalities at home and trust their fellowmen more. I know that is the case with me, and I have not had a single unpleasant experience, nor have I been met with a single scowl when I have begun a conversation with a stranger.

"As a result, I am becoming acquainted with the people who come here as strangers. I know the birds in the park, too; and it is a pleasure to me to feed them crumbs and to have the friendly pigeons fly to the bench beside me or, as they do occasionally, light on my arm or shoulder.

"I derive much of my pleasure and benefit in Miami from the fact that I have determined to regard every person and each animal as my friend, at least until I am convinced differently."

A man from Kansas stood in front of the Fair building and was gazing at the cocoanut trees in the public park.

Turning to a companion he remarked, within hearing of the Man About Town: "If this park belonged to me there is one thing I would do which is not being done. I would prohibit boys and men from knocking cocoanuts from the trees.

"I have seen boys climb these trees in broad daylight and almost strip them of their cocoanuts. I have also seen men with poles knock the nuts down, cut them open for the milk and throw the residue in the park.

"One of the delights to the visitor in Miami is the grove of trees hanging full of nuts. It is an experience many of us never dreamed we would have, to see these tropical splendors. Therefore, it impresses me as almost sacrilege to have the trees treated as they are sometimes, and I hope the Miami police will see that the practice is not permitted in the future. Give the tourists a chance to see these trees in all their glory, for it is a sight some of us are willing to pay good money to behold."

Two women were talking in a Twelfth street store when the subject of a matron at the depot was broached.

"I am not opposed to the movement," said one of them, "but it has occurred to me that Miami is different from the big central cities like Chicago. Women and girls who come to Miami come here deliberately. They are accompanied or not, according to their desire. People do not come 'way down this peninsula for refuge, like they flock into the big eastern or western cities, for it is too expensive to do so. I do not look for many cases of imposition on girls or women requiring the attention of a matron here. However, it may often prove convenient to have a woman with authority at the depot to answer questions of strangers and see that they are not imposed upon in the matter of securing rooms while here. The people who come to Miami, however, come because they want to, and they usually have the money necessary to secure the kind of accommodations they wish here, or to move on toward Cuba."

One of the biggest men in Miami, and the smallest individuals here at the present time, were in conversation at the carnival on Tuesday night, and it was clear to see that the midgets of the show had taken a great fancy to Judge James T. Sanders, judge-elect of the criminal court. Whether it is a secret or not, the Man About Town heard that Judge Sanders and his estimable wife made a date to take the tiny folks of the show for an extended automobile ride and show them something of Miami's surroundings.

From expressions heard about town, thousands of feet are awaiting the opportunity to pat time to the music of the band and as many hands are anxious to applaud the music-makers. All of the resort cities are featuring their music, and the tourist population of Miami is more than pleased to know that no resort will have higher class music, or more of it, than the Magic City.

One cannot get about town thoroughly without a trip on the street car, for its novelty if for no other reason.

The motorman sees things that some others overlook.

"I wish they would hurry up the completion of that bridge," said one of them yesterday. He referred to the Twelfth street structure.

"Do you know," he added, "that these sharp curves in detouring around the new bridge are a positive injury to the wheels and trucks of the cars? Well, that's a fact. The strain on the cars is terrific, in spite of the fact that we run as carefully as possible. Then, too, we lose time at the bridge. When the new bridge is completed there will be no more waiting for the westbound car at the Riverside switch."

If C. J. Pell, the veteran merchant of Riverside, continues building houses on his lots in that section, someone is going to arise, one of these days and christen him "King of Riverside." Anyway, the Man About Town heard that Mr. Bell began his career some years ago here with an abundance of faith in Miami and about as little money as one could use in a business venture. He picked out the section which he thought would develop, and began buying there. As a result, he is doing one man's good share of construction in Riverside, and, presumably, reaping a well-earned reward for his foresight and industry.

A man from Michigan said something last week which exceeds most of the predictions yet made for Miami.

"By the close of the winter season in 1920," he said, "Miami will show a population of 50,000.

"I am estimating from what I see here now. Your growth from a small population has been phenomenal, but it will be greater from the present increased population. In past years you have not had the material advantages on which to build. You now have some of the most attractive developments in America, completed or under way, and they will prove to be a much greater magnet than you probably think. Miami's growth will be correspondingly more rapid in the next two or three years."

BIG INTEREST AMONG NORTHERN FARMERS OKEECHOBEE COUNTRY

This year finds a larger number of farmers from the north than is usual in Miami.

Prices have been good this year in the north, and then too there are more and more every year, men from the north who are agriculturists, as well as men in other lines of work, who are finding it to be beneficial to come south for the winter, and get away from the cold weather of the north.

They are beginning to see for themselves too that there are opportunities now that were not thought of in Florida, and the stockman, in particular, is getting some facts that he would not believe previously. Many northern stockmen would not believe that Florida soil would produce prolific crops of alfalfa, Rhodes and para grass, also natal grass, and when they find out that such is the case and that these grasses provide all the year round fresh and green fodder and that the overhead expense of barns, and silos is eliminated, they begin to take an interest that is gratifying, for the day is not for distant when Florida will become known as one of the most wonderful livestock raising countries in the United States.

The time is not far distant when conditions regarding livestock will be reversed, instead of having hay shipped into Florida from the north, Florida will supply all her requirements, and at a much lower price, with profit. Dairy products will be abundant, and it will not be necessary to use canned milk, for the great Okeechobee country is being opened up, and the most wonderful livestock development that has ever been witnessed will be known there.

It has started already, and it is just in its infancy, and those who know prophesy wonderful things in the way of live stock development, and the hustling city of Moore Haven is to be the heart and center of all this that is of so much import to the state as a whole.

It is no wonder that Moore Haven is attracting great interest throughout the state.

British Columbia last year exported 150 carloads of potatoes. These went chiefly to St. Joseph, Mo.

HIGH HEELED SHOES PUT CORNS ON TOES

Tells women how to dry up a corn so it lifts out without pain.

Modern high-heeled footwear buckles the toes and produces corns, and many of the thousands of hospital cases of infection and lockjaw are the result of woman's suicidal habit of trying to cut away these painful pests.

For little cost there can be obtained at any pharmacy a quarter of an ounce of a drug called freezone, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus without the slightest danger or inconvenience.

A few drops applied directly upon the tender, aching corn stops the soreness and shortly the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out. It is a sticky substance, which dries the moment it is applied, and thousands of men and women use it because the corn shrivels up and comes out without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Cut this out and try it if your corns bother you.

An additional incentive to renewed effort by fishermen to land the big ones that usually get away, has been offered by R. E. Racey, proprietor of Burdine's Sport Shop in the New Hippodrome building.

Mr. Racey declared last night that he will offer a trophy cup to the fisherman landing the largest king fish, barracuda or amberjack, and a gold medal to the guide accompanying the fisherman.

Arrangements are now being made for the engagement of an orchestra which will make its bow to the public on this particular occasion. The name of this organization will be announced just as soon as the contract has been signed and the finest musical program obtainable will be presented.

In connection with the upper floor of the pier, the management will shortly make an important announcement. It is the intention to present an attraction here, the nature of which has never before been seen in this section of the state. This will consist of some novelty features in the nature of some of the best professional dancers in the country.

While the management of the Elser pier is busy with the arrangements for opening the building in time for the show, the automobile exhibitors are making plans for their exhibits.

The automobiles to be displayed are the Buick, Elgin, Overland, Roamer, Hudson, Chevrolet, Cadillac, Saxon, Studebaker, Scripps-Booth and Republic truck.

The firms who have engaged space are: W. A. Hill, agent for the Hudson and Republic truck; J. K. Dorn, agent for the Studebaker and Saxon; L. A. Jones, Dodge car; H. Williams, Cadillac; Green & High Auto company, Scripps-Booth; C. Benton Dean, Chevrolet; Kirby Carter, Buick; W. T. Berner, Elgin; Herbert Lowe, Roamer, and J. T. Weathers, Overland.

In addition to the auto dealers the Miami Tire company and the East Coast Tire company will exhibit tires and accessories, while the Miami Insurance company will also have a space.

Many valuable souvenirs will be given away by the auto exhibitors.

REDS WON IN CONTEST FOR SALES HONORS

Celebration of Unique Victory For Enthusiastic Students, Last Night

As a climax to a breathless six weeks of endeavor the three teams of the Thrift Club of the Pan-American College of Commerce last night were given a banquet at the Wayside Inn in honor of the Reds, the winning team, by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Perry.

Ten volunteers for each team were chosen from the school and each team became a company, the Magic City Sales Company, The Biscayne Sales Company and the Fidelity Sales Company. These three teams, formed primarily for the purpose of giving the students actual practice in selling and all the necessary office accompainments of selling, sold the commodity with which they were most familiar, that is, scholarships in the business college. Every morning the sales managers and their assistants laid out their plans for the day's selling and carried on the business with all the technicalities of card indexes, double entry bookkeeping and similar mysteries.

The final record of the teams as announced yesterday at the close of the contest were:

Magic City Sales Company, Arthur Sprugill, sales manager, Lavera Ging, assistant 103,820 points.

Fidelity Sales Co. Harry Hutto, sales manager, Marguerite Aylor, assistant, 88,370.

Biscayne Sales Company. Harold Soper, sales manager, Mildred Gibbons, assistant, 41,270 points.

With, therefore, the Magic City Sales company as the guests of honor the three tables for the three teams last night at the Wayside Inn were the setting for a very jolly banquet. Each table was lavishly decorated with its own colors while the three colors, the red, white and blue, were used for the small table where Mr. and Mrs. Perry sat.

After the dinner, Mr. Perry introduced Mrs. Douglas who gave a very short and informal little talk of congratulation to all of the teams on the spirit with which the work had been carried on. Mr. Perry then called upon the winning sales manager to tell how they won the contest and Mr. Spruill gave a most interesting account of their methods of work. Mr. Harry Hutto responded for the blue team, at the same time thanking his team for their excellent co-operation. In the absence of Mr. Harold Soper Miss Mildred Gibbons replied for the white team.

Others who gave short and interesting talks were Miss LaVera Ging, Miss Womeldorf, Mr. Larkins, Mr. Van Gelderen and Mr. F. M. Black.

The guests at Mr. and Mrs. Perry's table were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Black, and Mrs. Douglas, while the team members enjoying the banquet were the Misses Elizabeth Womeldorf, LaVera Ging, Emily Murray, Mae Jeffrey, Alice Hart, Audrey Perry, Claudia Dixon, Florence Jenkinson, Edna King, Gertrude Wilson, Dorothy Knight, Mildred Bivens, Helen Daniels, Mildred Gibbons, Clara Hunt, Mildred Shoemaker, Mamie Jones, Anna Crozier, Lessie Cumbie, Marguerite Aylor, Mrs. Elsie McGill.

Mrs. G. Malabre, and the Messrs. J. M. Van Gelderen, P. Arthur Spruill, James Larkins, Harry Hutto, Manuel Arevalo, John Castellano, Daniel Eby and Albert Hinman.

HARD WORK WON GAME

Seminoles Take Another From Fort Lauderdale In Basketball

The Seminole basketball team came back from Ft. Lauderdale last night with another scalp dangling from their belt, but it must be said for the Ft. Lauderdale players that the Indians had some trouble taking it, and it was only by the most strenuous playing on their part in the last few minutes of the game that the Seminoles finally overpowered their stalwart opponents.

The first half went decidedly against the Miami five, and Ft. Lauderdale fans believed the time had come at last when they would chalk up on the wall to their credit a victory over the redoubtable Seminoles.

Thirteen to eight was the score when the first half ended, and Ft. Lauderdale fans shouted aloud in their glee, but when the second half began the Indians got themselves in hand and started an irresistable offense.

Goal after goal followed in rapid succession until just six minutes before the gong sounded, the Seminoles had tied the score at eighteen to eighteen.

Miami fans had been somewhat gloomy before this onslaught against the Ft. Lauderdale ranks, but they woke up and made the rafters ring when the Indians tied the score. About half of the spectators were Miamians, and they made more than half of the noise during the last few minutes of the game.

The contest ended with twenty-seven scores to the credit of the Miami five and five and twenty for Ft. Lauderdale.

TWO SMALL FIRES CALLED DEPARTMENT

The fire department responded to two alarms in different sections of the city yesterday and in either case the damage did not amount to more than $5.

An alarm from box 415 was caused by a brush fire in Edgewater early in the afternoon, while a small fire on the roof of an old building located on the south side of the Miami river and belonging to the Miami Fish company, called the department to that locality an hour later. The damage to the building did not exceed $5. The flames were caused by sparks from a chimney.

When the second fire alarm was sounded several pieces of fire apparatus responded on account of the locality, which is regarded as more serious, as there are a number of large buildings along the waterfront.

In both cases the firemen were called on the telephone and the alarms followed.

John Scott in an automobile ran ahead of Chief Chase on the way to the fire and delayed him. Officer Starling, who was riding with Mr. Chase arrested Scott for blocking traffic and he will be arraigned this morning.

The Man About Town

"Introductions?" she repeated in answer to a question.

"I don't need introductions in Miami."

She was an elderly woman, independent, spending the winter season here. Not the first time, either. It was evident that she "knew the ropes."

Seated on one of the benches in Royal Palm park the visitor talked to the newspaper man.

"Do you know," she said, "that one of the attractions of Miami to me is the ease with which people become acquainted. I come to this park every day to knit or write letters, and each day adds to my list of valued friends, because I count every person with whom I converse as a friend. Strangers talk to me without formality, and I talk to them. Frequently we do not even tell our names, but sometimes we find, by comparing notes, that we have lived or visited in the same sections of the country and that we are acquainted with the same people.

"There is a certain freedom in Miami which I like, and think it is because people coming here for a short while decide to leave their formalities at home and trust their fellowmen more. I know that is the case with me, and I have not had a single unpleasant experience, nor have I been met with a single scowl when I have begun a conversation with a stranger.

"As a result, I am becoming acquainted with the people who come here as strangers. I know the birds in the park, too; and it is a pleasure to me to feed them crumbs and to have the friendly pigeons fly to the bench beside me or, as they do occasionally, light on my arm or shoulder.

"I derive much of my pleasure and benefit in Miami from the fact that I have determined to regard every person and each animal as my friend, at least until I am convinced differently."

A man from Kansas stood in front of the Fair building and was gazing at the cocoanut trees in the public park.

Turning to a companion he remarked, within hearing of the Man About Town: "If this park belonged to me there is one thing I would do which is not being done. I would prohibit boys and men from knocking cocoanuts from the trees.

"I have seen boys climb these trees in broad daylight and almost strip them of their cocoanuts. I have also seen men with poles knock the nuts down, cut them open for the milk and throw the residue in the park.

"One of the delights to the visitor in Miami is the grove of trees hanging full of nuts. It is an experience many of us never dreamed we would have, to see these tropical splendors. Therefore, it impresses me as almost sacrilege to have the trees treated as they are sometimes, and I hope the Miami police will see that the practice is not permitted in the future. Give the tourists a chance to see these trees in all their glory, for it is a sight some of us are willing to pay good money to behold."

Two women were talking in a Twelfth street store when the subject of a matron at the depot was broached.

"I am not opposed to the movement," said one of them, "but it has occurred to me that Miami is different from the big central cities like Chicago. Women and girls who come to Miami come here deliberately. They are accompanied or not, according to their desire. People do not come 'way down this peninsula for refuge, like they flock into the big eastern or western cities, for it is too expensive to do so. I do not look for many cases of imposition on girls or women requiring the attention of a matron here. However, it may often prove convenient to have a woman with authority at the depot to answer questions of strangers and see that they are not imposed upon in the matter of securing rooms while here. The people who come to Miami, however, come because they want to, and they usually have the money necessary to secure the kind of accommodations they wish here, or to move on toward Cuba."

One of the biggest men in Miami, and the smallest individuals here at the present time, were in conversation at the carnival on Tuesday night, and it was clear to see that the midgets of the show had taken a great fancy to Judge James T. Sanders, judge-elect of the criminal court. Whether it is a secret or not, the Man About Town heard that Judge Sanders and his estimable wife made a date to take the tiny folks of the show for an extended automobile ride and show them something of Miami's surroundings.

From expressions heard about town, thousands of feet are awaiting the opportunity to pat time to the music of the band and as many hands are anxious to applaud the music-makers. All of the resort cities are featuring their music, and the tourist population of Miami is more than pleased to know that no resort will have higher class music, or more of it, than the Magic City.

One cannot get about town thoroughly without a trip on the street car, for its novelty if for no other reason.

The motorman sees things that some others overlook.

"I wish they would hurry up the completion of that bridge," said one of them yesterday. He referred to the Twelfth street structure.

"Do you know," he added, "that these sharp curves in detouring around the new bridge are a positive injury to the wheels and trucks of the cars? Well, that's a fact. The strain on the cars is terrific, in spite of the fact that we run as carefully as possible. Then, too, we lose time at the bridge. When the new bridge is completed there will be no more waiting for the westbound car at the Riverside switch."

If C. J. Pell, the veteran merchant of Riverside, continues building houses on his lots in that section, someone is going to arise, one of these days and christen him "King of Riverside." Anyway, the Man About Town heard that Mr. Bell began his career some years ago here with an abundance of faith in Miami and about as little money as one could use in a business venture. He picked out the section which he thought would develop, and began buying there. As a result, he is doing one man's good share of construction in Riverside, and, presumably, reaping a well-earned reward for his foresight and industry.

A man from Michigan said something last week which exceeds most of the predictions yet made for Miami.

"By the close of the winter season in 1920," he said, "Miami will show a population of 50,000.

"I am estimating from what I see here now. Your growth from a small population has been phenomenal, but it will be greater from the present increased population. In past years you have not had the material advantages on which to build. You now have some of the most attractive developments in America, completed or under way, and they will prove to be a much greater magnet than you probably think. Miami's growth will be correspondingly more rapid in the next two or three years."

BIG INTEREST AMONG NORTHERN FARMERS OKEECHOBEE COUNTRY

This year finds a larger number of farmers from the north than is usual in Miami.

Prices have been good this year in the north, and then too there are more and more every year, men from the north who are agriculturists, as well as men in other lines of work, who are finding it to be beneficial to come south for the winter, and get away from the cold weather of the north.

They are beginning to see for themselves too that there are opportunities now that were not thought of in Florida, and the stockman, in particular, is getting some facts that he would not believe previously. Many northern stockmen would not believe that Florida soil would produce prolific crops of alfalfa, Rhodes and para grass, also natal grass, and when they find out that such is the case and that these grasses provide all the year round fresh and green fodder and that the overhead expense of barns, and silos is eliminated, they begin to take an interest that is gratifying, for the day is not for distant when Florida will become known as one of the most wonderful livestock raising countries in the United States.

The time is not far distant when conditions regarding livestock will be reversed, instead of having hay shipped into Florida from the north, Florida will supply all her requirements, and at a much lower price, with profit. Dairy products will be abundant, and it will not be necessary to use canned milk, for the great Okeechobee country is being opened up, and the most wonderful livestock development that has ever been witnessed will be known there.

It has started already, and it is just in its infancy, and those who know prophesy wonderful things in the way of live stock development, and the hustling city of Moore Haven is to be the heart and center of all this that is of so much import to the state as a whole.

It is no wonder that Moore Haven is attracting great interest throughout the state.

British Columbia last year exported 150 carloads of potatoes. These went chiefly to St. Joseph, Mo.

HIGH HEELED SHOES PUT CORNS ON TOES

Tells women how to dry up a corn so it lifts out without pain.

Modern high-heeled footwear buckles the toes and produces corns, and many of the thousands of hospital cases of infection and lockjaw are the result of woman's suicidal habit of trying to cut away these painful pests.

For little cost there can be obtained at any pharmacy a quarter of an ounce of a drug called freezone, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus without the slightest danger or inconvenience.

A few drops applied directly upon the tender, aching corn stops the soreness and shortly the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out. It is a sticky substance, which dries the moment it is applied, and thousands of men and women use it because the corn shrivels up and comes out without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Cut this out and try it if your corns bother you.

OFFERS FINE PRIZE FOR LARGEST FISH

An additional incentive to renewed effort by fishermen to land the big ones that usually get away, has been offered by R. E. Racey, proprietor of Burdine's Sport Shop in the New Hippodrome building.

Mr. Racey declared last night that he will offer a trophy cup to the fisherman landing the largest king fish, barracuda or amberjack, and a gold medal to the guide accompanying the fisherman.

One of the rules of the contest is that every fish must be brought to the Burdine Sport Shop and weighed and measured, and the fish must have been caught with rod and reel.

Housekeepers Club Discussed Matters of Civic Importance

Civics, and very practical civics at that, was the subject matter discussed at the meeting yesterday afternoon of the Cocoanut Grove Housekeepers' club.

The usual civics class which was to have met at 2 o'clock, was, in the absence of Mrs. George Paddock, turned into a most animated and interesting discussion of very local public matters, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Gifford. The ever-pressing question of the colored school and school matters of all kinds, the Garden club, and many other matters were discussed, and several important motions authorizing action with the School Improvement association were carried.

After the opening of the regular meeting by the president, Mrs. Sue V. Moore, Mrs. Kirk Munroe, president of the Dade County Federation of Women's Organizations, made the following plea:

"Last November," she began, "when the State Federation of Women's Clubs met in Miami, the convention was honored by the presence of Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, national chairman of conservation. Mrs. Sherman of course saw a great deal of our section of the country and made the trip to the Royal Palm state park. Before both and especially after the ride to the park she took occasion to draw the club members' attention to what she spoke of as disfiguring our beautiful roads. She meant the signs nailed to the pine trees, telegraph poles and wayside buildings." Mrs. Munroe went on to make a strong appeal to the Housekeepers' club to take up the work as their own part of the county work since they themselves, many years ago, were the first to inaugurate it. The Community club of Fulford, she said, has taken up the work for their town and reports no signs in Fulford. She emphasized the fact that the club women have as much right to take down the signs as the people have to put them up wherever they are on a highway.

Mrs. T. V. Moore, vice-president at large for the Florida Federation, gave the main talk of the afternoon on the subject of the Woman's club and civics and to make it perfectly evident and in detail she took up the many ways the Miami Woman's club had worked in civic affairs, describing vividly the methods of securing many of the improvements. The members of the Housekeepers' club asked questions and a real heart-to-heart talk on civic conditions was the very valuable result.

From the questions of garbage disposal according to the Miami system, which Mrs. Moore said was considered one of the best in the state of Florida, to the questions of screenings for fruit stands, the city parks, the new playground, gained through the efforts of the Woman's club, the planning for the ocean boulevard to extend in time all the way to Palm Beach, the new travelers' aid matron and many other matters of civic importance, Mrs. Moore's talk was to the most minute detail practical and because it was so practical it was accordingly most stimulating.

Many Enjoyed the Singing Of Old English Motion Songs

One of the most gaily tuneful and charming musical entertainments Miami has seen for some time was presented to a very appreciative and enthusiastic audience under the auspices of the Miami Woman's club last night at the Central school auditorium. The Hampton Court singers, one number from the Alkhest Lyceum course, proved to be five delightful young people who most musically rollicked through a series of songs in costume, with readings interspersed.

The old English songs were particularly interesting as well as effectively different, while the jolly little Irish musical sketch which ended the program well illustrated the ability of the Hampton Court singers for dramatic as well as musical roles.

The members of the company were: Mistress Laura Ferguson, soprano; Mistress Hazel Easton, alto; Mistress Edna Vivette, accompanist and reader; Master Lewis Sponsler, bass; Master Edgar Brown, tenor and manager.

The progrem of the evening was as follows:

Entrance song—I Oft Recall.

Songs of the seasons—Spring Song, The May Pole, Airs of Summer.

Reading.

Early English madrigal (Matena.)

Solo—Mistress Hazel Easton.

Old English motion songs—Thou Art Mine, Blind Men's Song, The Miller.

Solo—Master Sponsler.

Modern English songs—The Pink Rose, Daybreak, Goodnight Beloved.

Pianologue—Miss Vivette.

HERALD BOYS VISITED SHOW

Enterprising Newsies Enjoyed a Full Evening at the Carnival

Responding to an invitation extended by Con T. Kennedy, the genial ower of the carnival company, now giving two performances daily at the Twelfth street showgrounds, all the Herald newsboys gathered at the office of this newspaper last night, and marched out to the grounds where they had a hilarious time, taking in all the shows under the direction of "Bill" Floto, the versatile and courteous press representative of Mr. Kennedy.

Plans were made to have the carnival band come to the Herald office and escort the boys to the grounds, but the newsies were all on hand ahead of time and so impatient to get on the midway, that they failed to wait for the musicians and trouped out alone.

Mr. Floto was waiting for them at the entrance and attracted considerable attention as he moved around with the boys at his heels, going from one show to the other.

Every attraction was visited that the limited time permitted, but the newsies did not get tired and they stayed until the lights were put out, and left for their homes after giving a rousing cheer for Mr. Kennedy for his kindness in extending the invitation.

There was no one particular show that pleased more than another for the boys declared that they were all bully good and like Oliver Twist, they wanted more.

BRONCHITIS SUFFERER

Cured by a Simple Remedy.

Columbus, Ga. "I am telling everybody what Vinol has done for my husband. He had a bronchial cough, his system was run-down and I felt sure he would die. His father insisted on his trying Vinol, and I am so thankful he did, because it cured his cough and built him up. My doctor highly recommends it and said he could not take anything better." Mrs. Thomas Monk.

Vinol, you know, contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates. It enriches and revitalizes the blood and conveys to the system the vital elements necessary to strengthen the body and throw off the disease. That is the reason it was so successful in Mr. Monk's case.

Anyone in Miami who has bronchitis, a chronic cough, or needs building up, may try a bottle of Vinol, with the understanding that his money will be returned if he is not satisfied.

BLEW SAFE; MONEY SAFE

Amateur Yegg Men Fail to Get to Cash Repository of Strong Box

Safe blowers attempted to rob the safe in the offices of the Miami Cocoa Cola Bottling company, at Second street and avenue E, at an early hour yesterday morning but were frightened away. The men left an assortment of tools behind and the police hope, through these, to find some clue as to the identity of the criminals.

A half-inch hole was drilled through the outer door of the safe, and when the dynamite was exploded, the outer and inner doors became jammed and the thieves failed to get at the cash on the inside. This amounted to about $150, according to T. G. Buckner, proprietor of the concern, yesterday.

The tools consisted of a drilling outfit, hammer, chisel and a few other trinkets, the quality of which would indicate that the thieves were novices, as professional crooks would have made a better job of it, or would have had better working tools.

In so far as the police have been able to learn, the explosion took place about 2 o'clock, yesterday morning, and it is estimated that about two hours were consumed in drilling the hole through the safe door.

The owner accompanied by his family is aboard. They are en route to Miami and will spend the winter cruising in the waters of the lower East Coast. The Saramar is one of the most comfortable and luxurious yachts that ply the inland waters. She is fitted up specially for shallow water cruising and draws but 3 1-2 feet of water. She is 75 feet long, 19 feet beeam and is equipped with a 150-horsepower Twentieth Century engine. Bishop Quayle has such a gift of oratory that time seems to stop while he is speaking and laughter and tears follow each other as he describes the comedy and pathos in the lives of his subjects. Through it all and over all is the great truth he presents to his hearers.

Miami will welcome Bishop Quayle as one of the best.

Housekeepers Club Discussed Matters of Civic Importance

Civics, and very practical civics at that, was the subject matter discussed at the meeting yesterday afternoon of the Cocoanut Grove Housekeepers' club.

The usual civics class which was to have met at 2 o'clock, was, in the absence of Mrs. George Paddock, turned into a most animated and interesting discussion of very local public matters, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Gifford. The ever-pressing question of the colored school and school matters of all kinds, the Garden club, and many other matters were discussed, and several important motions authorizing action with the School Improvement association were carried.

After the opening of the regular meeting by the president, Mrs. Sue V. Moore, Mrs. Kirk Munroe, president of the Dade County Federation of Women's Organizations, made the following plea:

"Last November," she began, "when the State Federation of Women's Clubs met in Miami, the convention was honored by the presence of Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, national chairman of conservation. Mrs. Sherman of course saw a great deal of our section of the country and made the trip to the Royal Palm state park. Before both and especially after the ride to the park she took occasion to draw the club members' attention to what she spoke of as disfiguring our beautiful roads. She meant the signs nailed to the pine trees, telegraph poles and wayside buildings." Mrs. Munroe went on to make a strong appeal to the Housekeepers' club to take up the work as their own part of the county work since they themselves, many years ago, were the first to inaugurate it. The Community club of Fulford, she said, has taken up the work for their town and reports no signs in Fulford. She emphasized the fact that the club women have as much right to take down the signs as the people have to put them up wherever they are on a highway.

Mrs. T. V. Moore, vice-president at large for the Florida Federation, gave the main talk of the afternoon on the subject of the Woman's club and civics and to make it perfectly evident and in detail she took up the many ways the Miami Woman's club had worked in civic affairs, describing vividly the methods of securing many of the improvements. The members of the Housekeepers' club asked questions and a real heart-to-heart talk on civic conditions was the very valuable result.

From the questions of garbage disposal according to the Miami system, which Mrs. Moore said was considered one of the best in the state of Florida, to the questions of screenings for fruit stands, the city parks, the new playground, gained through the efforts of the Woman's club, the planning for the ocean boulevard to extend in time all the way to Palm Beach, the new travelers' aid matron and many other matters of civic importance, Mrs. Moore's talk was to the most minute detail practical and because it was so practical it was accordingly most stimulating.

Many Enjoyed the Singing Of Old English Motion Songs

One of the most gaily tuneful and charming musical entertainments Miami has seen for some time was presented to a very appreciative and enthusiastic audience under the auspices of the Miami Woman's club last night at the Central school auditorium. The Hampton Court singers, one number from the Alkhest Lyceum course, proved to be five delightful young people who most musically rollicked through a series of songs in costume, with readings interspersed.

The old English songs were particularly interesting as well as effectively different, while the jolly little Irish musical sketch which ended the program well illustrated the ability of the Hampton Court singers for dramatic as well as musical roles.

The members of the company were: Mistress Laura Ferguson, soprano; Mistress Hazel Easton, alto; Mistress Edna Vivette, accompanist and reader; Master Lewis Sponsler, bass; Master Edgar Brown, tenor and manager.

The progrem of the evening was as follows:

Entrance song—I Oft Recall.
Songs of the seasons—Spring Song, The May Pole, Airs of Summer.
Reading.
Early English madrigal (Matena.)
Solo—Mistress Hazel Easton.
Old English motion songs—Thou Art Mine, Blind Men's Song, The Miller.
Solo—Master Sponsler.
Modern English songs—The Pink Rose, Daybreak, Goodnight Beloved.
Pianologue—Miss Vivette.

HERALD BOYS VISITED SHOW

Enterprising Newsies Enjoyed a Full Evening at the Carnival

Responding to an invitation extended by Con T. Kennedy, the genial ower of the carnival company, now giving two performances daily at the Twelfth street showgrounds, all the Herald newsboys gathered at the office of this newspaper last night, and marched out to the grounds where they had a hilarious time, taking in all the shows under the direction of "Bill" Floto, the versatile and courteous press representative of Mr. Kennedy.

Plans were made to have the carnival band come to the Herald office and escort the boys to the grounds, but the newsies were all on hand ahead of time and so impatient to get on the midway, that they failed to wait for the musicians and trouped out alone.

Mr. Floto was waiting for them at the entrance and attracted considerable attention as he moved around with the boys at his heels, going from one show to the other.

Every attraction was visited that the limited time permitted, but the newsies did not get tired and they stayed until the lights were put out, and left for their homes after giving a rousing cheer for Mr. Kennedy for his kindness in extending the invitation.

There was no one particular show that pleased more than another for the boys declared that they were all bully good and like Oliver Twist, they wanted more.

BRONCHITIS SUFFERER

Cured by a Simple Remedy.

Columbus, Ga. "I am telling everybody what Vinol has done for my husband. He had a bronchial cough, his system was run-down and I felt sure he would die. His father insisted on his trying Vinol, and I am so thankful he did, because it cured his cough and built him up. My doctor highly recommends it and said he could not take anything better." Mrs. Thomas Monk.

Vinol, you know, contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates. It enriches and revitalizes the blood and conveys to the system the vital elements necessary to strengthen the body and throw off the disease. That is the reason it was so successful in Mr. Monk's case.

Anyone in Miami who has bronchitis, a chronic cough, or needs building up, may try a bottle of Vinol, with the understanding that his money will be returned if he is not satisfied.

BLEW SAFE; MONEY SAFE

Amateur Yegg Men Fail to Get to Cash Repository of Strong Box

Safe blowers attempted to rob the safe in the offices of the Miami Cocoa Cola Bottling company, at Second street and avenue E, at an early hour yesterday morning but were frightened away. The men left an assortment of tools behind and the police hope, through these, to find some clue as to the identity of the criminals.

A half-inch hole was drilled through the outer door of the safe, and when the dynamite was exploded, the outer and inner doors became jammed and the thieves failed to get at the cash on the inside. This amounted to about $150, according to T. G. Buckner, proprietor of the concern, yesterday.

The tools consisted of a drilling outfit, hammer, chisel and a few other trinkets, the quality of which would indicate that the thieves were novices, as professional crooks would have made a better job of it, or would have had better working tools.

In so far as the police have been able to learn, the explosion took place about 2 o'clock, yesterday morning, and it is estimated that about two hours were consumed in drilling the hole through the safe door.

HOUSEBOAT SARAMAR CRUISING TO MIAMI, WILL SOON BE HERE

The houseboat Saramar of New York is on its way to Miami, and on board are Sherman Lewis, its owner, and his family.

On Wednesday the boat was in St. Augustine, and the Record said:

"Moored to Allen's dock is the handsome houseboat, Saramar, of New York, owned by Sherman Lewis. The Saramar arrived yesterday, making the trip from Jacksonville through the canal. For several years the Saramar has been making trips to Florida during the winter months, and always spends a few days here. Capt. Wheeler is in command as usual. The owner accompanied by his family is aboard. They are en route to Miami and will spend the winter cruising in the waters of the lower East Coast. The Saramar is one of the most comfortable and luxurious yachts that ply the inland waters. She is fitted up specially for shallow water cruising and draws but 3 1-2 feet of water. She is 75 feet long, 19 feet beeam and is equipped with a 150-horsepower Twentieth Century engine. Coming through the canal from Jacksonville she bumped into a sunken log but sustained no serious damage. After a stay of two or three days the boat will resume her trip, using the canal."

BISHOP W. A. QUAGLE COMING TO LECTURE

A telegram has been received from Rev. R. N. Merrill, who is now at St. Cloud attending the Methodist Episcopal Conference, saying that Bishop W. A. Quayle will be in Miami Tuesday, Jan. 23, and give one of his famous lectures at the White Temple.

Bishop Quayle has such a gift of oratory that time seems to stop while he is speaking and laughter and tears follow each other as he describes the comedy and pathos in the lives of his subjects. Through it all and over all is the great truth he presents to his hearers.

Miami will welcome Bishop Quayle as one of the best.

RESTORING RIGHTS

There is an interesting paradox in the decision of the supreme court on the Webb-Kenyon law, which it upheld in its entirety.

The decision, while granting the right of congress to pass a law regulating interstate commerce distinctly strengthens the power of the individual states with relation to its commerce with other states, or other states with it. It is a decentralizing decision in its essence.

There never has been a question of the right of the state to regulate or to abolish the liquor traffic, or any other traffic that the people of the state decide is inimical to its interets. For more than a century the trend of the law has been to outlaw alcoholic beverages in traffic. It has been placed distinctly under the police powers of the state and is subject to whatever regulation the state may impose.

A clear distinction should be kept in mind as to the rights and powers of the national government and of a state government. Both derive their authority from the same source, the people. But the federal government is one of reserved powers, that is, everything that is not granted to it by the constitution, either by statement or implication, is reserved to the states and the people thereof. The state government is not so restricted; its powers are plenary and are only bound by the will of the people, themselves.

Now, many of the states have declared the liquor traffic outlawed, but as the federal constitution conferred on congress the right to regulate interstate commerce, it was said by those supporting the traffic that the state had no right to prohibit shipments of liquor within its borders. This was a distinct statement that the federal constitution overrode the state in the exercise of its police powers. Regulation of police powers within a state was not among the powers granted to the central government, and was therefore reserved to the states themselves.

The Webb-Kenyon law divested liquor shipments of their interstate quality. That is, when a state had outlawed it, the protection seemingly given it by the constitution, ended at the border of the state, which had prohibited such shipments, and the supreme court says that the law is correct and right.

This is an acknowledgment of states rights that is refreshing, and may lead to still further decisions restoring to the state those rights that have been usurped gradually by the central authority, during the course of the years.

OUR WAY OF DOING IT

St. Petersburg is having its annual wrestle with the ever recurring problem of the crowing rooster, and the Independent says that one reason that very conspicuous bird is heard so plainly at night, and all night, is that St. Petersburg is so quiet after 10 o'clock in the evening, that the sound is more noticeable.

While Miami has not eliminated the crowing rooster, it has largely solved the problem of overcoming something of the nuisance, and The Herald does not mind giving the Independent the recipe.

Miami has become so busy, it is growing so fast, that the sound of progress has overcome the noise of the rooster, and hardly anybody now notices the bird, let him crow when he will. Miami does not quiet down at 10 o'clock in the evening, but the streets are thronged with passing vehicles and pedestrians all night long, and the rooster hasn't a ghost of a show.

Try getting so busy that little noises like rooster crowing will not be noticed and the resulting progress will be so marked that the people themselves will do all the crowing necessary. That's the way it is here.

WINTER VISITOR DEAD

The newspaper profession of the country loses one of its greatest figures in the death of George Thompson, of St. Paul, which occurred at Los Angeles, last Sunday.

While Mr. Thompson was born in England, he came to this country at an early day and was one of the founders of the St. Paul Dispatch, for years its leading afternoon paper and one of the most influential newspapers of the state of Minnesota. He afterwards acquired the morning paper, the St. Paul Pioneer-Press, which is now, probably, the oldest daily in the state, having been formed from the old Press and still older Pioneer of the early days of the state.

Mr. Thompson was a frequent visitor to Miami, spending the most of last winter in this city. While here he made a great many friends by his genial and courteous ways, and his death will be regretted here as it will be so deeply deplored in St. Paul where he spent a long life of great usefulness. He was seventy-six years old at the time of his death.

Wonder what the treasury department thinks those new one and two dollar notes will buy in these days of high prices.

FIRST BROKEN PLEDGE

Some considerable interest will be aroused in the state over the removal of Adjutant General Foster, who has occupied that office for many years most acceptably to the people of the state and to the National Guard. He has taken a leading position in militia affairs, not only in this state but in the country, and has established an enviable reputation as an officer.

So popular was General Foster that when the time came for closing the nominations in the primary, no candidate was found in opposition and the general's name was kept off the ballot, as the law regarded him as the nominee of the democratic party and there was no use in his name being presented to the voters.

The governor has explicitly stated that he would appoint all those who had been nominated in the primary, and there is no doubt that General Foster was so nominated, under the law. But there is another angle to the subject, it would appear, of which the governor has taken advantage to remove the general and to appoint a personal friend to the office.

It seems that according to a recently adopted constitutional amendment the adjutant general of the state, holds his office at the "pleasure of the governor." It was this clause of which the governor seems to have taken advantage, in order to favor a friend with a good office. It is none the less, however, a distinct violation of his pledges to nominate all who were named by the democratic party as candidates for office, whose appointment comes to him by virtue of his office.

He had something to say in his inaugural address about efficiency in state government which he promised those who heard him speak. Just whether efficiency in the adjutant general's office is obtained by turning out one who is thoroughly familiar with its duties and who has obtained a splendid reputation for ability in military affairs, to give place to one whose qualifications are entirely unknown, can only be ascertaned after the experiment has been tried. The fair presumption, however, is against it.

The presumption also follows that the governor will not adhere strictly to his promise to appoint the judges of circuit courts and prosecuting officers who were declared the candidates in the democratic primary, although in making this appointment he again declares that he will follow out the will of the democratic party as expressed in the primary. One technicality has served his purpose well and he can readily find others.

COURTESY FROM CUBA

A few days ago The Herald referred to an action sought to be brought in the supreme court of the United States by the republic of Cuba, asking that the republic be given premission to bring suit against the state of North Carolina for recovery on certain bonds, which that state repudiated years ago.

There was an attempt made in the senate to discover by what means and through what parties Cuba came into possession of these bonds, and the debate in that body brought out all the facts in the case. It not only brought out the facts, but it brought the attention of the Cuban authorities to the fact which they had not before known, that Cuba was merely being made the catspaw of a certain coterie of men in this country who have been endeavoring for more than a quarter of a century to find means to compel certain southern states to pay bonds issued during reconstruction days, bonds that were fraudulent from the beginning and which were disposed of without consideration and which the states promptly repudiated when the real people of those states once more recovered political power.

A few of the bonds of the state of North Carolina were donated to a certain pubic charity in Cuba. Without knowing their history, Cuban authorities directed attorneys to seek permission through the supreme court of this country to bring a suit against the state of North Carolina for recovery.

When the Cuban minister at Washington learned through the senate debates the exact history and status of these repudiated bonds, he got in touch with his home government and the president of the republic very promptly revoked the decree authorizing the application, and it was withdrawn from before the supreme court.

This was an extremely courteous action on the part of the authorities of Cuba, and probably disposes of all further attempts at collecting these repudiated and outlawed bonds of southern states.

NO END TO IT.

The Herald does not accept liquor advertising, simply from the fact that the publication of that kind of advertising is repulsive to a number of very good people whose friendship this paper desires to retain, and for no other reason.

But in viewing the constant attempts to exclude advertising of that character from newspapers, by law, one is led to wonder where it is all to end.

If, because an advertisement is repulsive to some people, and can, for that reason, be excluded by operation of law, then other advertising which may be objectionable to other people can also be excluded.

There are a great many patent medicine and patent device advertisements published in various papers of which The Herald is not one, that are very repulsive to one who knows just what they mean. There are a great many fashion advertisements, calling attention to the advantages of the most intimate articles of clothing that are quite repulsive to refined tastes.

Will there be a movement to exclude these and all other advertisements that offend some people from the papers by the exercise of governmental authority? Or will people still be permitted to select from magazines and newspapers that which they want to read and ignore that which they do not desire to peruse?

One begun there is no end to the restrictions that can be placed in the reading of the people.

Miami's appropriation for ship canal improvements is still safe in the rivers and harbors bill.

If people persist in crossing the streets at prohibited places, the authorities will have to place blinders on the police, or some arrests will have to be made.

NATIONAL PRESS

Philadelphia Record.

We have been told very recently and also very repeatedly, that "war is scientific assassination, murder glorified." All of which is language and not thought. Each belligerent in this war would be glad to stop killing its opponents if they would only give up. Germany would not have killed any Belgians if they had not resisted. It did not wish to kill any Frenchmen, and would not have killed any, if they had laid down their arms on the approach of the German armies. England would have been glad to avoid killing any Germans if they had kept out of France and Belgium. In other words, nations do not fight for the sake of killing, but for the purpose of occupying certain territory, or inducing another nation to pursue a certain course of action. The killing is due to resistance; it is not the purpose of the belligerent nation. Militarists never "promised the world cloudless skies as in mad rivalry they laid the keels of great battleships." What they promised was that their nations should be able to carry out certain designs of national expansion, or should be able to defend themselves against aggression. And if some of the professed followers of the Prince of Peace object to the cessation of war until justice shall be done and crime punished, they are doing nothing more than other professed followers are doing in the maintenance of the police, and the criminal courts, and prisons, and the electric chair. If a man may resist the armed man who invades his house, a nation may resist the million armed men that invade the houses and the farms and the shops of its people, and if a man may go to the help of another assailed by robbers or assassins on the streets, a nation may go to the succor of an invaded nation, either in a spirit of altruism, or in far-sighted self-protection, to avoid being the next victim. But these things require thinking rather than talking, and to many persons talking is the easier and the pleasanter occupation.

Investment has particularly to do with SERVICE. A wise man said "Service is the insides of business."

Service means more than anything else in a Mortgage house. Service means that your first lien mortgage papers must be properly drawn; all taxes must be paid; your title must be perfect; interest must be collected promptly when due and sent you without charge; fire insurance policies must be promptly renewed and lastly, SERVICE means a careful and efficient conservation of the lenders' interests wherever involved. RESTORING RIGHTS

There is an interesting paradox in the decision of the supreme court on the Webb-Kenyon law, which it upheld in its entirety.

The decision, while granting the right of congress to pass a law regulating interstate commerce distinctly strengthens the power of the individual states with relation to its commerce with other states, or other states with it. It is a decentralizing decision in its essence.

There never has been a question of the right of the state to regulate or to abolish the liquor traffic, or any other traffic that the people of the state decide is inimical to its interets. For more than a century the trend of the law has been to outlaw alcoholic beverages in traffic. A clear distinction should be kept in mind as to the rights and powers of the national government and of a state government. Both derive their authority from the same source, the people. But the federal government is one of reserved powers, that is, everything that is not granted to it by the constitution, either by statement or implication, is reserved to the states and the people thereof. The state government is not so restricted; its powers are plenary and are only bound by the will of the people, themselves.

Now, many of the states have declared the liquor traffic outlawed, but as the federal constitution conferred on congress the right to regulate interstate commerce, it was said by those supporting the traffic that the state had no right to prohibit shipments of liquor within its borders. This was a distinct statement that the federal constitution overrode the state in the exercise of its police powers. Regulation of police powers within a state was not among the powers granted to the central government, and was therefore reserved to the states themselves.

The Webb-Kenyon law divested liquor shipments of their interstate quality. That is, when a state had outlawed it, the protection seemingly given it by the constitution, ended at the border of the state, which had prohibited such shipments, and the supreme court says that the law is correct and right.

This is an acknowledgment of states rights that is refreshing, and may lead to still further decisions restoring to the state those rights that have been usurped gradually by the central authority, during the course of the years.

St. Petersburg is having its annual wrestle with the ever recurring problem of the crowing rooster, and the Independent says that one reason that very conspicuous bird is heard so plainly at night, and all night, is that St. Petersburg is so quiet after 10 o'clock in the evening, that the sound is more noticeable.

While Miami has not eliminated the crowing rooster, it has largely solved the problem of overcoming something of the nuisance, and The Herald does not mind giving the Independent the recipe.

Miami has become so busy, it is growing so fast, that the sound of progress has overcome the noise of the rooster, and hardly anybody now notices the bird, let him crow when he will. Miami does not quiet down at 10 o'clock in the evening, but the streets are thronged with passing vehicles and pedestrians all night long, and the rooster hasn't a ghost of a show.

Try getting so busy that little noises like rooster crowing will not be noticed and the resulting progress will be so marked that the people themselves will do all the crowing necessary. That's the way it is here.

WINTER VISITOR DEAD

The newspaper profession of the country loses one of its greatest figures in the death of George Thompson, of St. Paul, which occurred at Los Angeles, last Sunday.

While Mr. Thompson was born in England, he came to this country at an early day and was one of the founders of the St. Paul Dispatch, for years its leading afternoon paper and one of the most influential newspapers of the state of Minnesota. He afterwards acquired the morning paper, the St. Paul Pioneer-Press, which is now, probably, the oldest daily in the state, having been formed from the old Press and still older Pioneer of the early days of the state.

Mr. Thompson was a frequent visitor to Miami, spending the most of last winter in this city. While here he made a great many friends by his genial and courteous ways, and his death will be regretted here as it will be so deeply deplored in St. Paul where he spent a long life of great usefulness. He was seventy-six years old at the time of his death.

Wonder what the treasury department thinks those new one and two dollar notes will buy in these days of high prices.

FIRST BROKEN PLEDGE

Some considerable interest will be aroused in the state over the removal of Adjutant General Foster, who has occupied that office for many years most acceptably to the people of the state and to the National Guard. He has taken a leading position in militia affairs, not only in this state but in the country, and has established an enviable reputation as an officer.

So popular was General Foster that when the time came for closing the nominations in the primary, no candidate was found in opposition and the general's name was kept off the ballot, as the law regarded him as the nominee of the democratic party and there was no use in his name being presented to the voters.

The governor has explicitly stated that he would appoint all those who had been nominated in the primary, and there is no doubt that General Foster was so nominated, under the law. But there is another angle to the subject, it would appear, of which the governor has taken advantage to remove the general and to appoint a personal friend to the office.

It seems that according to a recently adopted constitutional amendment the adjutant general of the state, holds his office at the "pleasure of the governor." It was this clause of which the governor seems to have taken advantage, in order to favor a friend with a good office. It is none the less, however, a distinct violation of his pledges to nominate all who were named by the democratic party as candidates for office, whose appointment comes to him by virtue of his office.

He had something to say in his inaugural address about efficiency in state government which he promised those who heard him speak. Just whether efficiency in the adjutant general's office is obtained by turning out one who is thoroughly familiar with its duties and who has obtained a splendid reputation for ability in military affairs, to give place to one whose qualifications are entirely unknown, can only be ascertaned after the experiment has been tried. The fair presumption, however, is against it.

The presumption also follows that the governor will not adhere strictly to his promise to appoint the judges of circuit courts and prosecuting officers who were declared the candidates in the democratic primary, although in making this appointment he again declares that he will follow out the will of the democratic party as expressed in the primary. One technicality has served his purpose well and he can readily find others.

COURTESY FROM CUBA

A few days ago The Herald referred to an action sought to be brought in the supreme court of the United States by the republic of Cuba, asking that the republic be given premission to bring suit against the state of North Carolina for recovery on certain bonds, which that state repudiated years ago.

There was an attempt made in the senate to discover by what means and through what parties Cuba came into possession of these bonds, and the debate in that body brought out all the facts in the case. It not only brought out the facts, but it brought the attention of the Cuban authorities to the fact which they had not before known, that Cuba was merely being made the catspaw of a certain coterie of men in this country who have been endeavoring for more than a quarter of a century to find means to compel certain southern states to pay bonds issued during reconstruction days, bonds that were fraudulent from the beginning and which were disposed of without consideration and which the states promptly repudiated when the real people of those states once more recovered political power.

A few of the bonds of the state of North Carolina were donated to a certain public charity in Cuba. Without knowing their history, Cuban authorities directed attorneys to seek permission through the supreme court of this country to bring a suit against the state of North Carolina for recovery.

When the Cuban minister at Washington learned through the senate debates the exact history and status of these repudiated bonds, he got in touch with his home government and the president of the republic very promptly revoked the decree authorizing the application, and it was withdrawn from before the supreme court.

This was an extremely courteous action on the part of the authorities of Cuba, and probably disposes of all further attempts at collecting these repudiated and outlawed bonds of southern states.

NO END TO IT.

The Herald does not accept liquor advertising, simply from the fact that the publication of that kind of advertising is repulsive to a number of very good people whose friendship this paper desires to retain, and for no other reason.

But in viewing the constant attempts to exclude advertising of that character from newspapers, by law, one is led to wonder where it is all to end.

If, because an advertisement is repulsive to some people, and can, for that reason, be excluded by operation of law, then other advertising which may be objectionable to other people can also be excluded.

There are a great many patent medicine and patent device advertisements published in various papers of which The Herald is not one, that are very repulsive to one who knows just what they mean. There are a great many fashion advertisements, calling attention to the advantages of the most intimate articles of clothing that are quite repulsive to refined tastes.

Will there be a movement to exclude these and all other advertisements that offend some people from the papers by the exercise of governmental authority? Or will people still be permitted to select from magazines and newspapers that which they want to read and ignore that which they do not desire to peruse?

One begun there is no end to the restrictions that can be placed in the reading of the people.

Miami's appropriation for ship canal improvements is still safe in the rivers and harbors bill.

If people persist in crossing the streets at prohibited places, the authorities will have to place blinders on the police, or some arrests will have to be made.

CHICAGO'S ALLIED BAZAAR

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Following weeks of preparation, Chicago's big bazaar for the benefit of the Entente Allies was opened in the Coliseum today and will be continued until January 20. In the prominence of its promoters and the number and variety of exhibits and attractions the bazaar is one of the most notable undertakings of its kind in the history of this city. Those in charge predict that in the matter of financial returns the bazaar will equal if not eclipse the similar affairs recently held in New York, Boston and other eastern cities.

NATIONAL PRESS

Philadelphia Record.

We have been told very recently and also very repeatedly, that "war is scientific assassination, murder glorified." All of which is language and not thought. Each belligerent in this war would be glad to stop killing its opponents if they would only give up. Germany would not have killed any Belgians if they had not resisted. It did not wish to kill any Frenchmen, and would not have killed any, if they had laid down their arms on the approach of the German armies. England would have been glad to avoid killing any Germans if they had kept out of France and Belgium. In other words, nations do not fight for the sake of killing, but for the purpose of occupying certain territory, or inducing another nation to pursue a certain course of action. The killing is due to resistance; it is not the purpose of the belligerent nation. Militarists never "promised the world cloudless skies as in mad rivalry they laid the keels of great battleships." What they promised was that their nations should be able to carry out certain designs of national expansion, or should be able to defend themselves against aggression. And if some of the professed followers of the Prince of Peace object to the cessation of war until justice shall be done and crime punished, they are doing nothing more than other professed followers are doing in the maintenance of the police, and the criminal courts, and prisons, and the electric chair. If a man may resist the armed man who invades his house, a nation may resist the million armed men that invade the houses and the farms and the shops of its people, and if a man may go to the help of another assailed by robbers or assassins on the streets, a nation may go to the succor of an invaded nation, either in a spirit of altruism, or in far-sighted self-protection, to avoid being the next victim. But these things require thinking rather than talking, and to many persons talking is the easier and the pleasanter occupation.

What a Trust Company Is Not

An individual, no matter how many times he has acted as executor, can hardly be expected to offer the equipment and experience of a Trust Company. The Fidelity Bank & Trust Company, for example, is——not sick,

—not out of town,
—not busy with personal affairs.
—not tempted to make use of the estate for personal gain,
—not without fire and burglar proof vaults,
—not wanting in ample financial resources.

Individuals seldom have much executorship experience.

We have a department devoted to business of this nature, and are equipped to handle it to the best interest of the estate and to the satisfaction of the Courts.

FIRST MORTGAGES

Investment has particularly to do with SERVICE. A wise man said "Service is the inside of business."

Service means more than anything else to a Mortgage house. Service means that your first lien mortgage papers must be properly drawn; all taxes must be paid; your title must be perfect; interest must be collected promptly when due and sent you without charge; fire insurance policies must be promptly renewed and lastly, SERVICE means a careful and efficient conservation of the lender's interests wherever involved. MILLER SERVICE identifies first lien mortgage investment with all the safeguards.

THOUSANDS DROP OUT OF ARCANUM

Raise in Rates Causes Great Dissatisfaction Among Old Time Members

New York, Jan. 11.—The supreme officers of the Royal Arcanum have designated today as the day for totaling the cancellations in the membership of the order, which will show for the first time the full extent of the dissatisfaction among the members over the increase in the cost of certain classes of insurance. According to the last annual reports the order numbered 240,000 members in the United States. It is known that several thousand members in New York state have resigned from the order since August 1, and it is believed the total number of resignations throughout the country will run between 60,000 and 100,000.

The advance in rates, made necessary, according to the officials by what is known as the Mobile Insurance law, particularly affected what is known as term insurance. This insurance formerly provided a low rate up to the time the insured was 65 years of age, but has been more than doubled in many instances. The increase was made necessary by the Mobile Insurance law, which requires all fraternal insurance companies to be made permanently solvent on the basis of approved mortality tables. All the fraternal insurance companies are put under the same restriction.

It became apparent to the Supreme Council of the Royal Arcanum as early as 1905 that the rates of the organization, for certain classes of insurance, were not based on sound insurance principles, and an effort was made at that time to impose a new scale of charges. This attempt was resisted by those who had taken out insurance at the original rate, and who insisted that the order was obligated by contract to carry out its side of the bargain.

When the supreme council attempted to go ahead with the new plan over these protests an action to restrain was brought in the supreme court of New York by James Lawrence Mock, the holder of a policy. William J. Gaynor, then a supreme court justice, ruled against the council on the ground that it was bound by its agreement with its policy holders. This decision was later set aside on appeal, but became the subject of additional litigation and policy holders were permitted to continue paying the old rate.

This condition continued in New York state until recently when the supreme council decided it could no longer withhold action. A storm of protest followed the announcement hundreds who had been paying for years the rate originally agreed upon asserting they were not financially able to meet the new scale, but the council declared it was forced by necessity to adhere to its program.

The resignations then began to come in and have been increasing since. Not until the cancellations are totaled will it be known how many members will quit the order because of dissatisfaction with the new rates. Some have estimated the total as high as 100,000, but the supreme officials estimated that 60,000 will cover the withdrawals in the entire country.

C. D. CATES & COMPANY STOCK COTTON AND GRAIN LETTERS

Stocks: The market is under pressure pretty much every day now. Europe is selling whatever railroad stocks they have left. This is noticeable in St. Paul, Canadian Pacific, Pennsylvania and Northwestern. There was an order here six months ago to sell Northwestern which was held out while their bonds were being floated but it has come again. The whole street is bearish. The people who were the biggest bulls at the top have become the most pessimistic today. $24,000,000 came in today and money is easy. Lloyd-George's speech does not look as though peace were very near. Trading such as we have had now is bound to cultivate a short interest and the best thing for those interested is pick up stock on these recessions.

Wheat: Uneasiness over political situation was in again in wheat market experienced belated liquidated and short pressure. Later market action demonstrated a complete absorption of the heavy selling of yesterday and again this morning. This item is worthy of comment as the buying has been hard to trace, general volume of commission demand being small. Cash wheat remains strong in all markets, one sale of ordinary variety of new hard winter wheat being made here at 12 3-4 over May. Premiums now prevailing are almost prohibitive and will increase the demand for the old winter wheat now in elevator. Despite the shipping condition, the old wheat is moving out on fairly liberal scale. Very little heard of export business but New York estimates business late yesterday and this morning around 700,000.

Cotton: Liquidation of long cotton which started the decline yesterday was resumed on the opening today and evidently completed as a better tone prevailed during the latter part of the session with a fair recovery from the low of the morning. Later in the day a weakness again developed with prices again near the early low levels. Near the close spot advices from the south caused another wave of buying and the market closed steady about fifteen points from the low levels.

AD CLUB NEXT WILL MEET IN DAYTONA TOWN

Preparations For the State Affair, Which Will Be On January 17

Daytona the place, and January 17 the time, is the announcement made for the next meeting of the Florida State Association of Advertisers' Clubs.

And the prediction is that it will be well attended and prove to be the best meeting yet held.

Referring to preparations for this event the Times-Union, upon information from headquarters in Jacksonville, says:

"The Daytona live wires were insistent on having this meeting and it is learned that they are preparing to make the event a red letter day on the calendar of advertising and publicity methods for the whole state. T. E. Fitzgerald, editor of the Daytona Gazette-News and also one of the mainsprings in the business world of Daytona, will no doubt have a prominent part in the arrangements for entertaining the visitors from the various cities of Florida and of course this part of the program will follow the business session to be held on the evening of January 17.

"Jacksonville will be represented by some of the most prominent workers in the Jacksonville Advertisers' club, and the fact that Charles A. Tutewiller is president of the state association makes it imperative that this city be well and ably represented. Secretary Kessler is doing some good work in getting delegates appointed from other cities and indications obtained from answers received by him show a deep interest in the convention.

"While the program for the Daytona meeting has not been completed or published as yet, it is known that several good speakers will be named and that the cause of better and more truthful advertising and publicity for the whole state will be handled in a worthy and profitable manner.

"Looking forward to the next legislative session at Tallahassee, there is no doubt that consideration will be given matters that must come up at that time. So far there has been a general support of the tentative plans for a bill to protect the public through compulsion of truth in advertising by a law to that effect. The very fact of the great saving effected in Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Daytona, Miami and other cities, where the itinerant advertising schemer has previously operated, practically clinches the argument in favor of the further protection, according to views of the members of the various advertisers' clubs, and the Daytona meeting will undoubtedly be marked for efforts to increase protection for merchants and advertisers alike.

"It is probable that delegates from Jacksonville will go by train and automobile and the same trains and cars will carry the St. Augustine delegates. Other cities of the state enjoying a membership are expected to respond by sending large delegations and further predict the success of the meeting."

WATERFRONT NOTES

W. S. THOMAS

Fishing from the yacht Dauntless yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Ruff Seifers, George H. Secrist and son, and Miss Ollie Baumer of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mr. Brener of New York caught two shark and several kingfish.

The yacht Kanised, belonging to Louis Kann of Baltimore, arrived in the bay yesterday and is lying at anchor opposite the Biscayne Bay Yacht club. Mr. Kann and his family are not on board, but are expected to arrive in Miami any day and will spend the winter on their yacht.

The fishing boat Betty Jane arrived in the bay yesterday on her way to Long Key fishing camp, where the boat will be under charter for fishing purposes.

The yacht Buffalo, Captain Layton, arrived at the Royal Palm dock yesterday, with Mrs. Hatch and party on board. Mrs. Match will leave Monday for Palm Beach, where she has taken a cottage for the season.

George V. Clark of Philadelphia, chartered the Waho, Captain Moller, for a day's fishing yesterday, but the ocean was too rough to try for deep water fishing on the reef and the party caught a large catch of smaller fish inside the bay.

The yacht Dorothy, Captain Denny, left yesterday with S. M. Frieda and two sons, T. A. and Leo Frieda, of New York, for a ten days' fishing cruise among the keys. The Dorothy will accompany the yacht Joyeuse, which left yesterday with a party of visitors on board.

R. C. Meeker and son, William Meeker, of Baltimore, and Messrs H. Yweisl and Garretson, spent yesterday on a trip down the bay on board the charter boat Cocoon, Captain Meyers, and returned to the Royal Palm dock with a small catch of fish.

The glass-bottomed boat Vidi, which will make a specialty of visiting the submarine gardens, will make the first trip of the season tomorrow, leaving the Elser pier at 10 o'clock. The Vidi will make regular trips to the submarine gardens hereafter.

The sea gardens are one of the marine attractions about Mimi and the sight is well worth seeing. The Vidi will make regular landings at the head of the Elser pier, which is one of the show places of Miami.

For the benefit of those who desire to take this trip the Elser pier management has arranged to serve a regular box lunch at reduced price. This will be necessary as the boat does not return to the dock until 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

THE FORD ROLLED ON.

Some temporary excitement was caused shortly before noon yesterday on avenue D near Fou[illegible]nth street when a truck of Fran[illegible] Transfer company collided with a Ford car belonging to the James Deering property. The rear of the Ford was badly crushed in, and the windshield broken, but the broken parts were put in the car and it proceeded as though nothing had occurred. The heavy truck was only slightly damaged.

THE NAZARENE REVIVAL.

The revival of the Nazarene church on Fourth street between avenues J and K is deeply impressing the people. Mrs. Huffman from New York state is giving special messages, in song. Her song "Lord Send the Revival," was especially pleasing.

Rev. Goodwin's sermons are bearing results. His messages on, "How To Pray" has proved very helpful to the Christians. His message on "Fire" was sweeping in its scope and clearly drew the lines between right and wrong.

THOUSANDS DROP OUT OF ARCANUM

Raise in Rates Causes Great Dissatisfaction Among Old Time Members

New York, Jan. 11.—The supreme officers of the Royal Arcanum have designated today as the day for totaling the cancellations in the membership of the order, which will show for the first time the full extent of the dissatisfaction among the members over the increase in the cost of certain classes of insurance. According to the last annual reports the order numbered 240,000 members in the United States. It is known that several thousand members in New York state have resigned from the order since August 1, and it is believed the total number of resignations throughout the country will run between 60,000 and 100,000.

The advance in rates, made necessary, according to the officials by what is known as the Mobile Insurance law, particularly affected what is known as term insurance. This insurance formerly provided a low rate up to the time the insured was 65 years of age, but has been more than doubled in many instances. The increase was made necessary by the Mobile Insurance law, which requires all fraternal insurance companies to be made permanently solvent on the basis of approved mortality tables. All the fraternal insurance companies are put under the same restriction.

It became apparent to the Supreme Council of the Royal Arcanum as early as 1905 that the rates of the organization, for certain classes of insurance, were not based on sound insurance principles, and an effort was made at that time to impose a new scale of charges. This attempt was resisted by those who had taken out insurance at the original rate, and who insisted that the order was obligated by contract to carry out its side of the bargain.

When the supreme council attempted to go ahead with the new plan over these protests an action to restrain was brought in the supreme court of New York by James Lawrence Mock, the holder of a policy. William J. Gaynor, then a supreme court justice, ruled against the council on the ground that it was bound by its agreement with its policy holders. This decision was later set aside on appeal, but became the subject of additional litigation and policy holders were permitted to continue paying the old rate.

This condition continued in New York state until recently when the supreme council decided it could no longer withhold action. A storm of protest followed the announcement hundreds who had been paying for years the rate originally agreed upon asserting they were not financially able to meet the new scale, but the council declared it was forced by necessity to adhere to its program.

The resignations then began to come in and have been increasing since. Not until the cancellations are totaled will it be known how many members will quit the order because of dissatisfaction with the new rates. Some have estimated the total as high as 100,000, but the supreme officials estimated that 60,000 will cover the withdrawals in the entire country.

C. D. CATES & COMPANY STOCK COTTON AND GRAIN LETTERS

Stocks: The market is under pressure pretty much every day now. Europe is selling whatever railroad stocks they have left. This is noticeable in St. Paul, Canadian Pacific, Pennsylvania and Northwestern. There was an order here six months ago to sell Northwestern which was held out while their bonds were being floated but it has come again. The whole street is bearish. The people who were the biggest bulls at the top have become the most pessimistic today. $24,000,000 came in today and money is easy. Lloyd-George's speech does not look as though peace were very near. Trading such as we have had now is bound to cultivate a short interest and the best thing for those interested is pick up stock on these reccessions.

Wheat: Uneasiness over political situation was in again in wheat market experienced belated liquidated and short pressure. Later market action demonstrated a complete absorption of the heavy selling of yesterday and again this morning. This item is worthy of comment as the buying has been hard to trace, general volume of commission demand being small. Cash wheat remains strong in all markets, one sale of ordinary variety of new hard winter wheat being made here at 12 3-4 over May. Premiums now prevailing are almost prohibitive and will increase the demand for the old winter wheat now in elevator. Despite the shipping condition, the old wheat is moving out on fairly liberal scale. Very little heard of export business but New York estimates business late yesterday and this morning around 700,000.

Cotton: Liquidation of long cotton which started the decline yesterday was resumed on the opening today and evidently completed as a better tone prevailed during the latter part of the session with a fair recovery from the low of the morning. Later in the day a weakness again developed with prices again near the early low levels. Near the close spot advices from the south caused another wave of buying and the market closed steady about fifteen points from the low levels.

AD CLUB NEXT WILL MEET IN DAYTONA TOWN

Preparations For the State Affair, Which Will Be On January 17

Daytona the place, and January 17 the time, is the announcement made for the next meeting of the Florida State Association of Advertisers' Clubs.

And the prediction is that it will be well attended and prove to be the best meeting yet held.

Referring to preparations for this event the Times-Union, upon information from headquarters in Jacksonville, says:

"The Daytona live wires were insistent on having this meeting and it is learned that they are preparing to make the event a red letter day on the calendar of advertising and publicity methods for the whole state. T. E. Fitzgerald, editor of the Daytona Gazette-News and also one of the mainsprings in the business world of Daytona, will no doubt have a prominent part in the arrangements for entertaining the visitors from the various cities of Florida and of course this part of the program will follow the business session to be held on the evening of January 17.

"Jacksonville will be represented by some of the most prominent workers in the Jacksonville Advertisers' club, and the fact that Charles A. Tutewiller is president of the state association makes it imperative that this city be well and ably represented. Secretary Kessler is doing some good work in getting delegates appointed from other cities and indications obtained from answers received by him show a deep interest in the convention.

"While the program for the Daytona meeting has not been completed or published as yet, it is known that several good speakers will be named and that the cause of better and more truthful advertising and publicity for the whole state will be handled in a worthy and profitable manner.

"Looking forward to the next legislative session at Tallahassee, there is no doubt that consideration will be given matters that must come up at that time. So far there has been a general support of the tentative plans for a bill to protect the public through compulsion of truth in advertising by a law to that effect. The very fact of the great saving effected in Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Daytona, Miami and other cities, where the itinerant advertising schemer has previously operated, practically clinches the argument in favor of the further protection, according to views of the members of the various advertisers' clubs, and the Daytona meeting will undoubtedly be marked for efforts to increase protection for merchants and advertisers alike.

"It is probable that delegates from Jacksonville will go by train and automobile and the same trains and cars will carry the St. Augustine delegates. Other cities of the state enjoying a membership are expected to respond by sending large delegations and further predict the success of the meeting."

Fishing from the yacht Dauntless yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Ruff Seifers, George H. Secrist and son, and Miss Ollie Baumer of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mr. Bremer of New York caught two shark and several kingfish.

The yacht Kanised, belonging to Louis Kann of Baltimore, arrived in the bay yesterday and is lying at anchor opposite the Biscayne Bay Yacht club. Mr. Kann and his family are not on board, but are expected to arrive in Miami any day and will spend the winter on their yacht.

The fishing boat Betty Jane arrived in the bay yesterday on her way to Long Key fishing camp, where the boat will be under charter for fishing purposes.

The yacht Buffalo, Captain Layton, arrived at the Royal Palm dock yesterday, with Mrs. Hatch and party on board. Mrs. Match will leave Monday for Palm Beach, where she has taken a cottage for the season.

George V. Clark of Philadelphia, chartered the Waho, Captain Moller, for a day's fishing yesterday, but the ocean was too rough to try for deep water fishing on the reef and the party caught a large catch of smaller fish inside the bay.

The yacht Dorothy, Captain Denny, left yesterday with S. M. Frieda and two sons, T. A. and Leo Frieda, of New York, for a ten days' fishing cruise among the keys. The Dorothy will accompany the yacht Joyeuse, which left yesterday with a party of visitors on board.

R. C. Meeker and son, William Meeker, of Baltimore, and Messrs H. Yweisl and Garretson, spent yesterday on a trip down the bay on board the charter boat Cocoon, Captain Meyers, and returned to the Royal Palm dock with a small catch of fish.

The glass-bottomed boat Vidi, which will make a specialty of visiting the submarine gardens, will make the first trip of the season tomorrow, leaving the Elser pier at 10 o'clock. The Vidi will make regular trips to the submarine gardens hereafter.

The sea gardens are one of the marine attractions about Mimi and the sight is well worth seeing. The Vidi will make regular landings at the head of the Elser pier, which is one of the show places of Miami.

For the benefit of those who desire to take this trip the Elser pier management has arranged to serve a regular box lunch at reduced price. This will be necessary as the boat does not return to the dock until 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

THE FORD ROLLED ON.

Some temporary excitement was caused shortly before noon yesterday on avenue D near Fourteenth street when a truck of Fran[illegible] Transfer company collided with a Ford car belonging to the James Deering property. The rear of the Ford was badly crushed in, and the windshield broken, but the broken parts were put in the car and it proceeded as though nothing had occurred. The heavy truck was only slightly damaged.

GREAT PROJECT FOR INTERNAL WATERWAYS

Is Broached At Convention of Florida East Coast Chamber of Commerce

At the convention of the Florida East Coast Chamber of Commerce at Titusville, Tuesday and Wednesday, George B. Hills of Jacksonville, representing P. A. Vans Agnew, with whom the idea originated, presented what he considers the most comprehensive and far-reaching project ever proposed in this state with the exception of the Everglades drainage project.

The plan as outlined by Mr. Hills provides for the organization of what may be called a navigation district along somewhat the same lines as the familiar sub-drainage district and the road and bridge district, to embrace parts of the northeastern, central and southern part of the state and to comprise nearly one-third of the entire state.

As outlined the plan will provide for a system of navigable inland waterways connecting the principal cities and towns in the territory to be embraced in the district.

Roughly speaking, the preliminary draft includes the improvement of the East Coast canal, with a connecting canal to be dug from a point near Titusville to the St. Johns river, continuing up the St. Johns river and the connecting creeks and lakes to Kissimmee, thence down the Kissimmee river to Lake Okeechobee, across the lake and back to the east coast through the state drainage canals to Miami and Ft. Lauderdale.

The promoters of the idea also propose that the Oklawaha and Caloosahatchee rivers be connected up with the system, and that a trans-state ship channel be thus provided. The exact route, however, was not suggested.

Such a project officials of the East Coast Chamber of Commerce and others believe would meet with the approval of the federal government, as it would give the war department a means of bringing from the gulf to the Atlantic light-draft vessels. fleet-tenders and torpedo boat destroyers by an inland route, which they believe would be valuable in time of war.

Other subjects discussed by the organization were the establishment of a state marketing bureau, the Torrens system, state constitutional convention and equalization of taxes.

The meeting favored action by the attorney general against the Florida Coast Canal and Transportation company to bring about the reversion of the title of the canal to the state.

The chamber will hold its next meeting at West Palm Beach during April, the exact date to be decided later.

TWO FLYING MACHINES IN AIR AT ONE TIME

Phil Rader and Harold Kantner each made a flight in their aeroplanes from Miami Beach yesterday.

They sailed over Miami at a height of several thousand feet and the noise of their motors attracted the attention of people in all parts of the city.

It was a novelty to see two machines in the air at the same time and it appeared as though they were having a race as they made their way out over the Everglades.

Both aviators were in the air for over an hour.

They will make several flights today.

ROTARY CLUB LISTENED TO A GOOD TALK

From One of the Leading Rotarians of the Country, At Luncheon Yesterday

John A. Turner, one of the leading Rotarians of the country and president of the Tampa Rotary club, was the guest of honor at the regular weekly luncheon of the Miami Rotary club, held yesterday at the Gralynn.

During the course of the luncheon, Mr. Turner gave a very clear outline of the work of the Rotarians in their communities, not only as helpers for all public enterprises, but as social organizations through which men become better acquainted and render better service to the cities in which they are located.

There are some thirty thousand Rotarians, and they are live wires, wherever they have an organization, said Mr. Turner. When fully organized they get in behind every movement for the bettering of the communities, are efficient aids for the Chamber of Commerce, for the charitable activities of the cities, for good roads and everything else that is good. It is a reserve force splendidly ready to assist in any work for the good of the whole community. The Rotary club, unlike other clubs, welcomes a man's business. In the social club, the golf club or any other club, business is "taboo," but in the Rotary club the business man may bring his business along and talk it over with sympathetic friends. Besides that, the club gives opportunity to study some of the broad principles of business, and Mr. Turner told of interesting twenty-minute talks on the federal reserve system by a prominent banker of Tampa at meetings of the Tampa club.

The Miami club is not fully organized, as yet, because there are certain formalities that have to be complied with in reference to its connection with the international association, and committees have not fully completed the classification so that new members may be admitted. When that is done a large number of leading business men of the city will be invited to become members and enjoy the weekly associations and the work of the club.

The club will meet next Thursday at the Fort Dallas hotel.

WANT CITY COUNCIL TO CHANGE ITS ORDER

The Miami chauffeurs are not satisfied to park their cars on back streets and lose all the business they have formerly enjoyed, and yesterday and last night made a round of the business houses along Twelfth street and secured signatures to petitions requesting city council to rescind its action of Monday night in passing an ordinance which among other stipulations forbade the parking of cars on Twelfth street for more than thirty minutes.

Forty-nine names of Twelfth street business men had been secured at nine o'clock last night, and only four seen had declined to sign the petition. Three of these said they would sign later if they learned that the petition met with the approval of a majority of the Twelfth streeet merchants.

COURT TRYING BIG CIVIL CASE

Grand Jury Busy Examining Into Condition of the County Institutions

The suit of James H. Zearing against James A. Moore, occupied the attention of the circuit court yesterday, and when court adjourned, late in the afternoon, the case was still unfinished. It will be resumed this morning. Mr. Zearing is seeking to recover engineering fees amounting to $6,250. The plaintiff is represented by Cason and Pine, while Gramling and Clarkson are the defendant's attorneys.

The members of the grand jury visited the various county institutions, including the county convict camp, yesterday, and almost the entire day was taken up with this work.

Sheriff Moran and his deputies were busy yesterday summoning the witnesses for the state in the murder trials of Frank Rice and Hugh Alderman. These witnesses are summoned to appear in court on Monday, January 22.

WOW! WHAT A WHOPPER!

Party of Canadians Told In Jax Miami Had Appealed For Tents For Crowds

Confirmation of the reports that people in the northern part of the state are still trying to prevent tourists from coming to Miami, is given in a private letter to A. W. Law of this city, the communication being received yesterday.

Mr. Law's correspondent is one of a party of distinguished Canadian people who are making a tour of the state. They are now at Kissimmee and expect to go to Tampa and St. Petersburg for a few days, and then come to Miami for the remainder of the season.

In the party are W. A. Baird and Mrs. Baird and a sister, Miss Baird; Allen H. Royce, his mother, Mrs. Royce, and his sister, Miss Royce; W. A. Gilbert and his sister, Miss Gilbert, who are brother and sister of Mrs. A. W. Law of this city.

Mr. Baird is a former mayor of Toronto and a member of the board of control of that city. Mr. Royce is the general counsel of the Canadian Northern railroad, and Mr. Gilbert is manager of the suburban street railways of Toronto.

A part of the letter referred to says:

"Will see you in a week or ten days. We heard alarming accounts in Jacksonville of the overcrowding in Miami. One report said that the government had been asked for three hundred military tents to help out the situation."

Which is about the niftiest story yet told on Miami designed to keep people from following the crowd to this favored and hospitable city.

The Canadian party is coming within a few days in spite of what they were told in Jacksonville.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

When cross, feverish and sick give "California Syrup of Figs."

Chiidren love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

WILL TEST THE TRAFFIC LAW

Arrest Brings the New Ordinance Before Judge In Municipal Court

The new city traffic ordinance, which was passed by the city council last Monday night, with a view of rectifying traffic congestion, will be tested out in the municipal court this morning.

The ordinance was strictly enforced by the police yesterday, much to the inconvenience of automobile hacking cars and the owners of these vehicles will petition the mayor to call a special meeting of the city council for the purpose of rescinding the new law. The petition was freely signed last night.

One arrest was made by the police last night under the new law and the hearing will no doubt be interesting. The defendant in the case is Dave Millard, who was arrested by Policeman Cochran. Millard was slated for an alleged violation of the new city ordinance.

MAKES CATCH OF SAILFISH

First One of Season Made By F. J. Mackey, of Chicago, From the Viking

The first sailfish of the season was caught off Ocean Beach at noon yesterday, and was one of the largest that has been seen here in a long time.

The catch was made by F. J. Mackey of Chicago, who is visiting here on board his yacht, the Nemaha, which is anchored opposite the Biscayne Bay Yacht club. Mr. Mackey was accompanied on the trip by a friend who is here with him on the Nemaha.

Chartering the yacht Viking, Captain Canova, Mr. Mackey left the Royal Palm dock bright and early yesterday morning. The gentlemen had not fished long before Mr. Mackey felt a tug at his line, and, pulling it in discovered it to be a sailfish, one of the most valuable prizes that could be pulled out of the gulf stream.

It required fully an hour to land the catch, which weighed sixty-five pounds, and which measured seven feet, nine inches from tip to tip. The most fortunate part of the matter was that the fish was brought to the boat in a perfect condition.

After returning to the dock the fish was sent to Harry Brigham, the taxidermist, who will mount the catch. The sailfish measured two feet six inches about the girth.

Yesterday's catch has stirred an interest in sailfishing and a number of visiting anglers are considering making a trip to the gulf stream today in search of some of these varieties.

Mrs. Wood asks to be permitted to resume her maiden name.

GREAT EFFECT ON TRAVEL

Will Be Produced By Construction of Tamiami Trail, Says Contractor

A motor trip down the east coast of Florida leads to the conclusion that the completion of the Tamiami Trail from Miami to Tampa will have a wonderful effect on travel in this part of the world, according to J. B. McCrary, head of the J. B. McCrary Engineering Corporation of Atlanta, contractors of the Tamiami Trail work, the Ingraham Highway which opens up the Cape Sable territory, and five million dollars of other Florida road building contracts.

Mr. McCrary arrived in Miami yesterday afternoon at four o'clock for the first time in three years, and, last night when seen at his hotel, marveled greatly at the progress made by the city since he saw it last. He drove from Jacksonville in his car, accompanied by Mrs. McCrary.

This morning at ten o'clock Mr. McCrary and his company's resident manager, Clement Chinn, will make a visit of inspection to the Tamiami Trail work west of Miami, where the dredges employed by the company in building the trans-state road and one hundred laborers are rapidly connecting the east coast and the west coast of the state with a splendid hard surface highway.

"I prefer," said Mr. McCrary, "to withhold my opinion of the Tamiami Trail work until after I have seen it today."

However, Mr. McCrary made the statement alluded to above, and intimated that it is his belief that when the Tamiami Trail is finished and it is possible to motor down one coast and up the other, crossing the state through the heart of the Everglades by way of the Tamiami Trail, motor travel will receive an impetus in this part of the country which no man can now foresee.

GREAT PROJECT FOR INTERNAL WATERWAYS

At the convention of the Florida East Coast Chamber of Commerce at Titusville, Tuesday and Wednesday, George B. Hills of Jacksonville, representing P. A. Vans Agnew, with whom the idea originated, presented what he considers the most comprehensive and far-reaching project ever proposed in this state with the exception of the Everglades drainage project.

The plan as outlined by Mr. Hills provides for the organization of what may be called a navigation district along somewhat the same lines as the familiar sub-drainage district and the road and bridge district, to embrace parts of the northeastern, central and southern part of the state and to comprise nearly one-third of the entire state.

As outlined the plan will provide for a system of navigable inland waterways connecting the principal cities and towns in the territory to be embraced in the district.

Roughly speaking, the preliminary draft includes the improvement of the East Coast canal, with a connecting canal to be dug from a point near Titusville to the St. Johns river, continuing up the St. Johns river and the connecting creeks and lakes to Kissimmee, thence down the Kissimmee river to Lake Okeechobee, across the lake and back to the east coast through the state drainage canals to Miami and Ft. Lauderdale.

The promoters of the idea also propose that the Oklawaha and Caloosahatchee rivers be connected up with the system, and that a trans-state ship channel be thus provided. The exact route, however, was not suggested.

Such a project officials of the East Coast Chamber of Commerce and others believe would meet with the approval of the federal government, as it would give the war department a means of bringing from the gulf to the Atlantic light-draft vessels, fleet-tenders and torpedo boat destroyers by an inland route, which they believe would be valuable in time of war.

Other subjects discussed by the organization were the establishment of a state marketing bureau, the Torrens system, state constitutional convention and equalization of taxes.

The meeting favored action by the attorney general against the Florida Coast Canal and Transportation company to bring about the reversion of the title of the canal to the state.

The chamber will hold its next meeting at West Palm Beach during April, the exact date to be decided later.

TWO FLYING MACHINES IN AIR AT ONE TIME

Phil Rader and Harold Kantner each made a flight in their aeroplanes from Miami Beach yesterday.

They sailed over Miami at a height of several thousand feet and the noise of their motors attracted the attention of people in all parts of the city.

It was a novelty to see two machines in the air at the same time and it appeared as though they were having a race as they made their way out over the Everglades.

Both aviators were in the air for over an hour.

They will make several flights today.

ROTARY CLUB LISTENED TO A GOOD TALK

From One of the Leading Rotarians of the Country, At Luncheon Yesterday

John A. Turner, one of the leading Rotarians of the country and president of the Tampa Rotary club, was the guest of honor at the regular weekly luncheon of the Miami Rotary club, held yesterday at the Gralynn.

During the course of the luncheon, Mr. Turner gave a very clear outline of the work of the Rotarians in their communities, not only as helpers for all public enterprises, but as social organizations through which men become better acquainted and render better service to the cities in which they are located.

There are some thirty thousand Rotarians, and they are live wires, wherever they have an organization, said Mr. Turner. When fully organized they get in behind every movement for the bettering of the communities, are efficient aids for the Chamber of Commerce, for the charitable activities of the cities, for good roads and everything else that is good. It is a reserve force splendidly ready to assist in any work for the good of the whole community. The Rotary club, unlike other clubs, welcomes a man's business. In the social club, the golf club or any other club, business is "taboo," but in the Rotary club the business man may bring his business along and talk it over with sympathetic friends. Besides that, the club gives opportunity to study some of the broad principles of business, and Mr. Turner told of interesting twenty-minute talks on the federal reserve system by a prominent banker of Tampa at meetings of the Tampa club.

The Miami club is not fully organized, as yet, because there are certain formalities that have to be complied with in reference to its connection with the international association, and committees have not fully completed the classification so that new members may be admitted. When that is done a large number of leading business men of the city will be invited to become members and enjoy the weekly associations and the work of the club.

The club will meet next Thursday at the Fort Dallas hotel.

WANT CITY COUNCIL TO CHANGE ITS ORDER

The Miami chauffeurs are not satisfied to park their cars on back streets and lose all the business they have formerly enjoyed, and yesterday and last night made a round of the business houses along Twelfth street and secured signatures to petitions requesting city council to rescind its action of Monday night in passing an ordinance which among other stipulations forbade the parking of cars on Twelfth street for more than thirty minutes.

Forty-nine names of Twelfth street business men had been secured at nine o'clock last night, and only four seen had declined to sign the petition. Three of these said they would sign later if they learned that the petition met with the approval of a majority of the Twelfth streeet merchants.

COURT TRYING BIG CIVIL CASE

Grand Jury Busy Examining Into Condition of the County Institutions

The suit of James H. Zearing against James A. Moore, occupied the attention of the circuit court yesterday, and when court adjourned, late in the afternoon, the case was still unfinished. It will be resumed this morning. Mr. Zearing is seeking to recover engineering fees amounting to $6,250. The plaintiff is represented by Cason and Pine, while Gramling and Clarkson are the defendant's attorneys.

The members of the grand jury visited the various county institutions, including the county convict camp, yesterday, and almost the entire day was taken up with this work.

Sheriff Moran and his deputies were busy yesterday summoning the witnesses for the state in the murder trials of Frank Rice and Hugh Alderman. These witnesses are summoned to appear in court on Monday, January 22.

WOW! WHAT A WHOPPER!

Party of Canadians Told In Jax Miami Had Appealed For Tents For Crowds

Confirmation of the reports that people in the northern part of the state are still trying to prevent tourists from coming to Miami, is given in a private letter to A. W. Law of this city, the communication being received yesterday.

Mr. Law's correspondent is one of a party of distinguished Canadian people who are making a tour of the state. They are now at Kissimmee and expect to go to Tampa and St. Petersburg for a few days, and then come to Miami for the remainder of the season.

In the party are W. A. Baird and Mrs. Baird and a sister, Miss Baird; Allen H. Royce, his mother, Mrs. Royce, and his sister, Miss Royce; W. A. Gilbert and his sister, Miss Gilbert, who are brother and sister of Mrs. A. W. Law of this city.

Mr. Baird is a former mayor of Toronto and a member of the board of control of that city. Mr. Royce is the general counsel of the Canadian Northern railroad, and Mr. Gilbert is manager of the suburban street railways of Toronto.

A part of the letter referred to says:

"Will see you in a week or ten days. We heard alarming accounts in Jacksonville of the overcrowding in Miami. One report said that the government had been asked for three hundred military tents to help out the situation."

Which is about the niftiest story yet told on Miami designed to keep people from following the crowd to this favored and hospitable city.

The Canadian party is coming within a few days in spite of what they were told in Jacksonville.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

When cross, feverish and sick give "California Syrup of Figs."

Chiidren love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

WILL TEST THE TRAFFIC LAW

Arrest Brings the New Ordinance Before Judge In Municipal Court

The new city traffic ordinance, which was passed by the city council last Monday night, with a view of rectifying traffic congestion, will be tested out in the municipal court this morning.

The ordinance was strictly enforced by the police yesterday, much to the inconvenience of automobile hacking cars and the owners of these vehicles will petition the mayor to call a special meeting of the city council for the purpose of rescinding the new law. The petition was freely signed last night.

One arrest was made by the police last night under the new law and the hearing will no doubt be interesting. The defendant in the case is Dave Millard, who was arrested by Policeman Cochran. Millard was slated for an alleged violation of the new city ordinance.

MAKES CATCH OF SAILFISH

First One of Season Made By F. J. Mackey, of Chicago, From the Viking

The first sailfish of the season was caught off Ocean Beach at noon yesterday, and was one of the largest that has been seen here in a long time.

The catch was made by F. J. Mackey of Chicago, who is visiting here on board his yacht, the Nemaha, which is anchored opposite the Biscayne Bay Yacht club. Mr. Mackey was accompanied on the trip by a friend who is here with him on the Nemaha.

Chartering the yacht Viking, Captain Canova, Mr. Mackey left the Royal Palm dock bright and early yesterday morning. The gentlemen had not fished long before Mr. Mackey felt a tug at his line, and, pulling it in discovered it to be a sailfish, one of the most valuable prizes that could be pulled out of the gulf stream.

It required fully an hour to land the catch, which weighed sixty-five pounds, and which measured seven feet, nine inches from tip to tip. The most fortunate part of the matter was that the fish was brought to the boat in a perfect condition.

After returning to the dock the fish was sent to Harry Brigham, the taxidermist, who will mount the catch. The sailfish measured two feet six inches about the girth.

Yesterday's catch has stirred an interest in sailfishing and a number of visiting anglers are considering making a trip to the gulf stream today in search of some of these varieties.

TAMPA FAVORS MIAMI IDEA

Will Assist in Securing Through Sleeping Car Service Between Cities

The Tampa Board of Trade will cooperate with the Miami Chamber of Commerce in efforts to secure through sleeping car service between the two cities. Referring to the proposed improvement the Tampa Tribune says:

"The Miami Chamber of Commerce wants through sleeping car service between that city and Tampa, and has written Secretary Dickie of the Tampa Board of Trade asking for the cooperation of this organization in the effort to secure service from the railroads. The Miami Chamber of Cemmerce points out that the through sleeper service would undoubtedly work advantageously both to the east coast and west coast, as tourists who now visit only one section, going south from Jacksonville and returning north without making the other leg of the trip, would go from Jacksonville to Tampa or Miami and then across the State, provided they could do this without making the tiresome trip and two changes of cars now necessary. The Miami body suggests that this through sleeper service could be routed either via Titusville and Enterprise Junction or via New Smyrna and Orange City Junction.

"Secretary Dickie will take this matter up with the Atlantic Coast line on the return to the city of Division Passenger Agent J. G. Kirkland."

AMUSEMENTS

TODAY AT THE PARAMOUNT.

Coming to the Paramount theater today in the Bluebird feature, "The Price of Silence," is Dorothy Phillips, one of the most beautiful and talented of screen stars. Miss Phillips is a Baltimore girl and it was in Baltimore that she made her first stage appearance in George Fawcett's stock company. Three years in the Savage productions, "Mary Jane's Pa" and "Everywoman" followed, and she created the title role in the New York production, "Pilate's Daughter." For one season she played opposite Francis X. Bushman at the Essanay company, and two years ago became a member of the Universal company.

TODAY AT THE FOTOSHO.

Earle Williams will be seen at the Fotosho in "The Scarlet Runner," entitled "The Nuremburg Watch," a complete story which runs as follows:

A veiled woman, a mysterious package—

She whispered it was a gift, a token of luck. Would he favor her and give it to Sir Gordon Race, defending Lady Mendel on trial for the murder of her husband.

He consents, delivers it, returns home, finds a message warning him of the contents—a watch filled with a powerful explosive.

In his "Scarlet Runner," throwing in the clutch at high speed, he races to throttle grim tragedy.

How he becomes involved in a fate meant for another, makes for a swift, suspense-holding, breath-catching episode that will bring you back for more of the speed, mystery and daring that gives this series so much magnetism and heart appeal.

A nitrogen plant will be erected at Arlington, Va.

TAMPA FAVORS MIAMI IDEA

Will Assist in Securing Through Sleeping Car Service Between Cities

The Tampa Board of Trade will cooperate with the Miami Chamber of Commerce in efforts to secure through sleeping car service between the two cities. Referring to the proposed improvement the Tampa Tribune says:

"The Miami Chamber of Commerce wants through sleeping car service between that city and Tampa, and has written Secretary Dickie of the Tampa Board of Trade asking for the cooperation of this organization in the effort to secure service from the railroads. The Miami Chamber of Commerce points out that the through sleeper service would undoubtedly work advantageously both to the east coast and west coast, as tourists who now visit only one section, going south from Jacksonville and returning north without making the other leg of the trip, would go from Jacksonville to Tampa or Miami and then across the State, provided they could do this without making the tiresome trip and two changes of cars now necessary. The Miami body suggests that this through sleeper service could be routed either via Titusville and Enterprise Junction or via New Smyrna and Orange City Junction.

"Secretary Dickie will take this matter up with the Atlantic Coast line on the return to the city of Division Passenger Agent J. G. Kirkland."

THE TESTS OF A BORE

Do you monopolize the conversation whereever you go with a breathless account of your own affairs?

Do you live over some trip you have taken with a friend until those around you never want to visit the regions you discuss?

Do you tell pointless jokes?

Do you talk round and round a subject before you finally get up to the point you want to emphasize?

Do you interrupt another's conversation with "That reminds me—" or "By the way—?"

Do you insist on pointing out every place of interest, which is interesting to you but not to a stranger?

Do you talk about mutual acquaintances and then ask your hearer's opinion upon them?

Do you chatter on for the sake of filling up a silence?

Do you take delight in explaining the why, wherefore and when of something in which your companion may take slight interest?

Do you fill up conversation with stories of people whom your audience does not know, never will know, nor has any desire to know?

Do you jump at every opportunity to trace a person's family connections and ancestry to the fourth generation?

Do you read the letters at the movies for the benefit of the entire theater?

Do you annoy a concert by beating time to the music or humming with the singer?

Do you talk shop out of shop hours?

Do you laugh at your own jokes before anyone else has a chance to do so?

Do you tell the point of another's story before he has a chance to emphasize it?

Do you say, "Oh, yes, I've heard that before," and take away the pleasure of another's story?

CHURCH UNITY

Indianapolis News.

The move of Pope Benedict in the direction of church unity is one the importance of which can hardly be exaggerated. That the pope was inspired by the drawing together of the Russian and Anglican churches, and also by the world conference on faith and order, promoted by the Episcopal church in this country, is very frankly admitted. Nor do we suppose that the action of the English government in sending an envoy to the papal court was wholly without effect. Dr. A. Palmierie, of the congressional library, who has received private notes discussing the action of the vatican, says that: "the friendship of the Anglican church is appreciated by Rome, for she may be a link of union between Roman Catholicism and Russian orthodoxy." It would be strange, indeed, if peace in Europe should bring with it peace as between the churches.

A few years ago Pope Leo XIII appointed a commission to inquire into the validity of Anglican orders... The report was that they were not valid. But they were questioned, not so much on the ground of any break in the succession, as on the ground of "intention"—by which it was meant that there was no intention to create priests in the Catholic sense. This simply meant that the Anglican conception of priest was different from the Roman conception. Now the whole subject is to be reviewed. If the validity of the Anglican episcopate and priesthood is recognized there is simply no telling what consequences may follow.

The break between the eastern and the Roman church dates much further back. Here is involved the question of the recognition of the papacy by the eastern church. Further than that there is the quarrel over the "procession of the Holy Spirit." In the Nicene creed, as used by the Roman Catholic and the Anglican churches, the Holy Spirit is said to proceed from "the Father and the Son," while the eastern church omits the "and the Son." That there is a great deal of politics—and by that we mean world politics—involved in all these controversies, as well as in the attempt to settle them, every student of history knows.

There are no countries in which the Roman Catholic church is stronger or more fairly dealt with than the United States and Great Britain. This fact has undoubtedly made a great impression on Pope Benedict. One can not escape the conclusion that he wishes to relate the great church of which he is the head, to the really progressive civilizations of the day. So the commission of cardinals that he will appoint "will pay attention to yearnings for unity which from time to time manifest themselves in the orthodox churches (that is the Russian and Greek church) and to cultivate friendly relations with the Anglican church." It is admitted that "the interest of the pope in the problem of Christian unity is said to have been intensified by the recent progress of the world congress proposed by the American Episcopal church." His hope is that there may be a united Protestantism as a preliminary to a united Christendom. We may be a long way from a universal church, and there are many who doubt whether this is to be desired, since it might be strong enough to override the civil authority, but there can be no doubt that the principle of separatism has been greatly overworked. Pope Benedict has shown himself, in all that he has said and done, to be an ecclesiastical statesman.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have bladder trouble Take glass of Salts.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become over-worked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

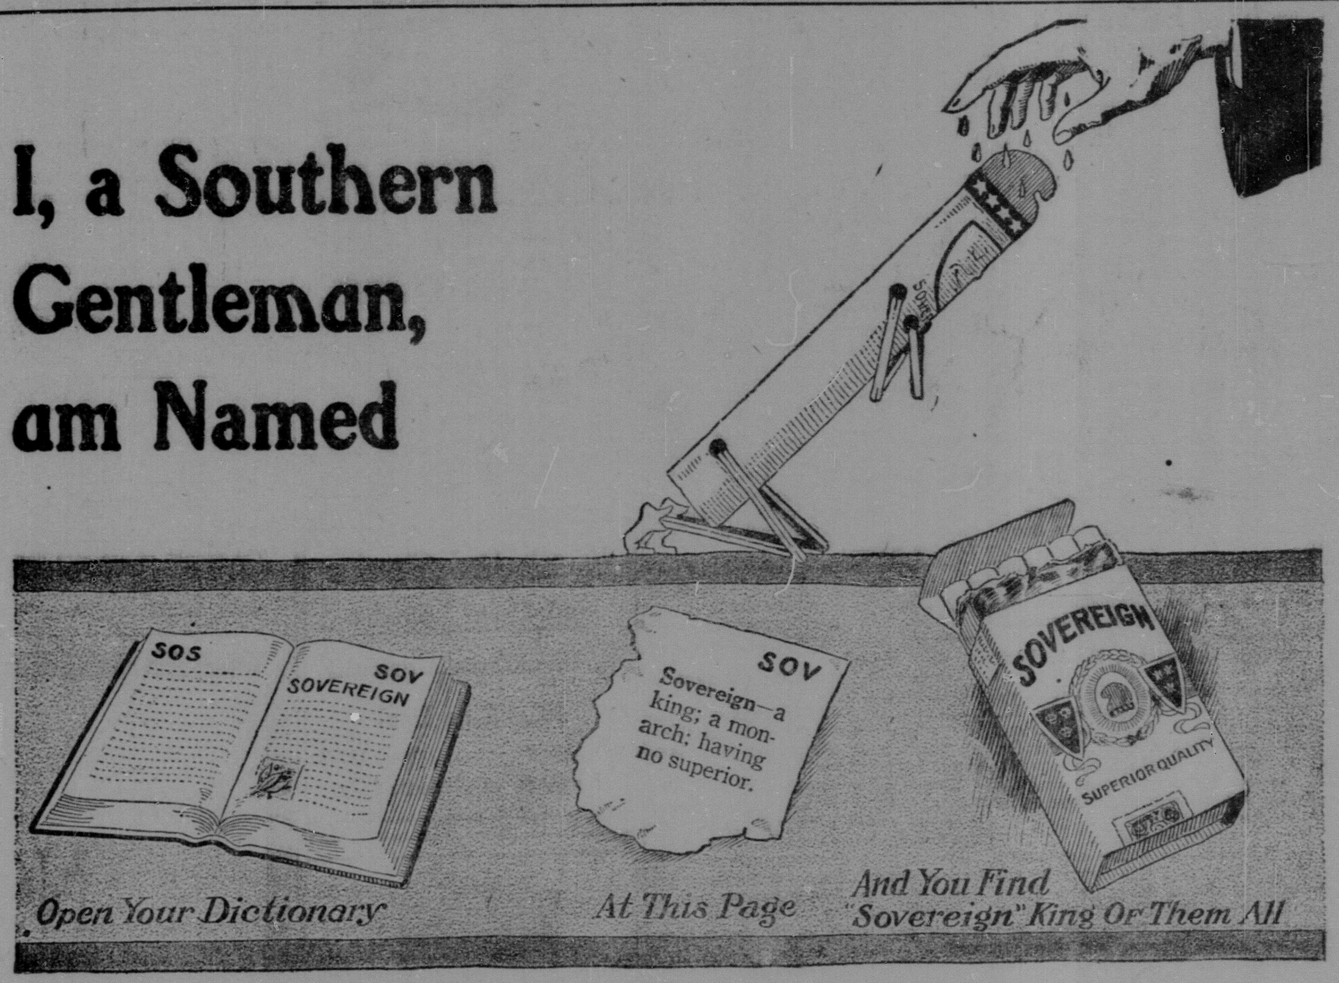
I, a Southern Gentleman, am Named



Well, way back in 1901, after I had been in this bright, happy world for several days, I began to get worried like. I didn't have any name.

Folks were calling me "it" and "the new one" and "whatdya-call-it." I didn't like it a bit. Then one day I heard the Big Chief telephoning all his department heads to meet in his office.

Pretty soon they all came filing in. Tall chaps, short chaps, fat chaps and skinny chaps. "Now that he is here," said the Big Chief, "what will you name him?"

My! how they wrangled and wrangled and wrangled. You know, you have heard them argue whether He'd be called Jack or John or Jim before. Finally, one fellow spoke up and said:

"Why not call him 'SOVEREIGN'? His mother was a Virginian, his father an aristocrat of the Carolinas. He comes from the very best stock. He comes from the very sweetest, ripest, mellowest Virginia and Carolina tobacco. He is being raised right in one of the cleanest, whitest, healthiest homes on earth. He is a Southerner born, a Southerner bred, a Southern gentleman—the king of them all—a real SOVEREIGN.

The Folks of the South KNOW good blood.
The Folks of the South KNOW good tobacco.

SOVEREIGN—the best—is none too good a name." So I was named, friend, for I want you as one of my friends. and it means a whole heap when I say—

I am guaranteed by The American Tobacco Co. INCORPORATED —Buy me. If you don't like me return me to your dealer and get your money back. I have said it. A Southern gentleman is known the world over for keeping his word, and I have given you mine.

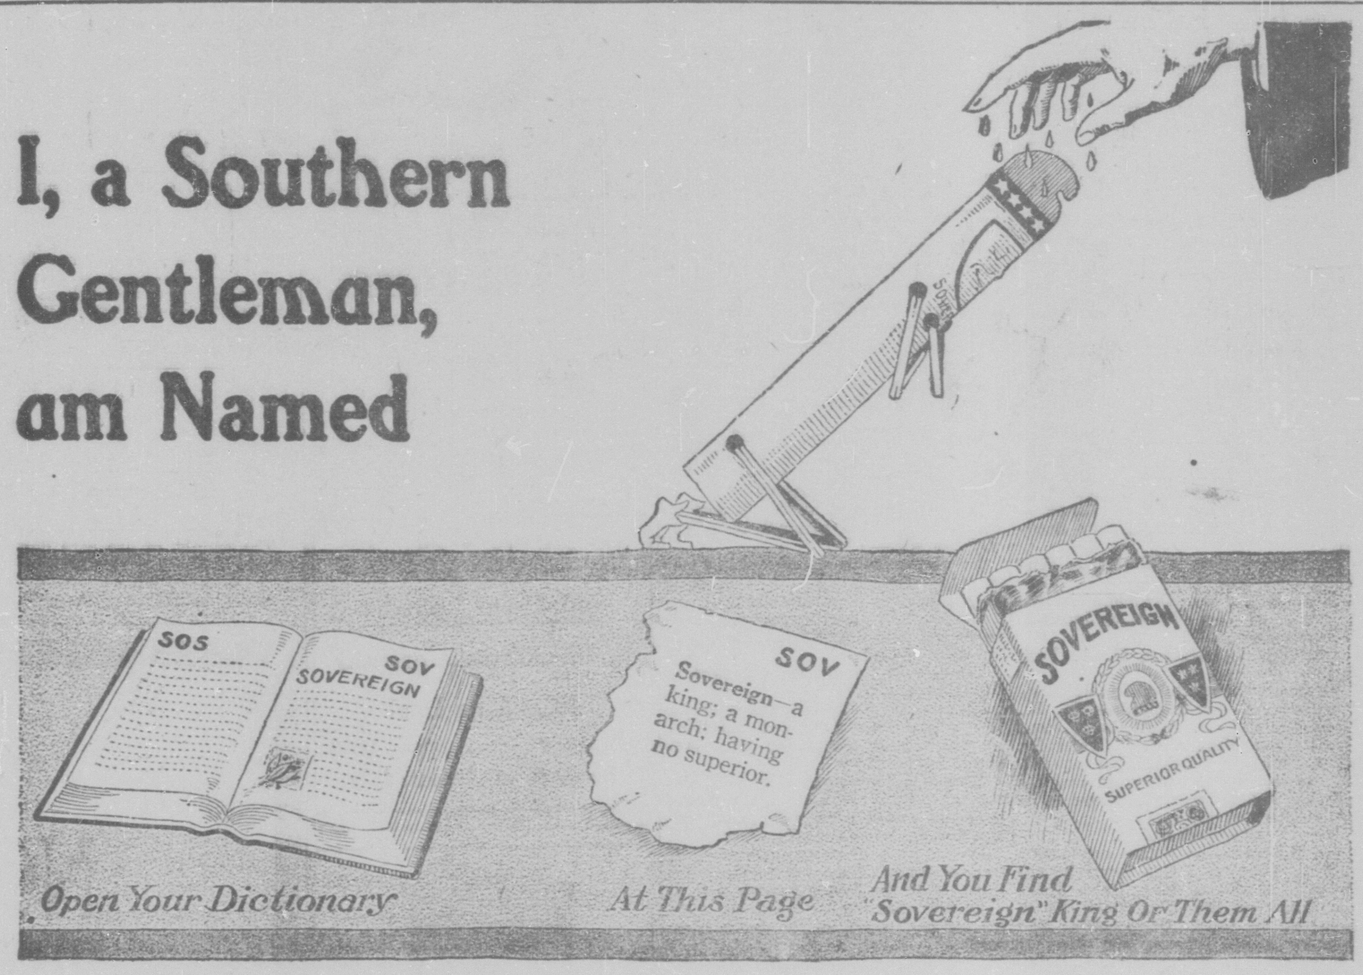
I, a Southern Gentleman, am Named



Open Your Dictionary At This Page And You Find "Sovereign" King Of Them All

Well, way back in 1901, after I had been in this bright, happy world for several days, I began to get worried like. I didn't have any name.

Folks were calling me "it" and "the new one" and "whatdya-call-it." I didn't like it a bit. Then one day I heard the Big Chief telephoning all his department heads to meet in his office.

Pretty soon they all came filing in. Tall chaps, short chaps, fat chaps and skinny chaps. "Now that he is here," said the Big Chief, "what will you name him?"

My! how they wrangled and wrangled and wrangled. You know, you have heard them argue whether He'd be called Jack or John or Jim before. Finally, one fellow spoke up and said:

"Why not call him 'SOVEREIGN'? His mother was a Virginian, his father an aristocrat of the Carolinas. He comes from the very best stock. He comes from the very sweetest, ripest, mellowest Virginia and Carolina tobacco. He is being raised right in one of the cleanest, whitest, healthiest homes on earth. He is a Southerner born, a Southerner bred, a Southern gentleman—the king of them all—a real SOVEREIGN.

The Folks of the South KNOW good blood.
The Folks of the South KNOW good tobacco.

SOVEREIGN—the best—is none too good a name." So I was named, friend, for I want you as one of my friends, and it means a whole heap when I say—

I am guaranteed by The American Tobacco Co. INCORPORATED —Buy me. If you don't like me return me to your dealer and get your money back. I have said it. A Southern gentleman is known the world over for keeping his word, and I have given you mine.

HOME.

There's a little bit o' log house on a little tree-clad hill,
And of nights the stars watch o'er it
and the lonesome whipporwill
Sends his plaintive call to find it, and a huge beech bends above,
And it's just the sort of picture that seems bulgin' full of love;
And a stream down in the valley seems to call, and call, and call,
And its voice goes up the hill and where the elms stand straight
and tall,
But there are no lighted windows, and there is no sound of song.
And the roof is bent and broken, and
the years seem sad and long.

There's no light in any window in the cottage on the hill,
And the door swings in the breezes,
and no foot is on the sill,
And the barn's a tumbling ruin, and no roosters flap and crow
In the darkness, as they used to in the night-times long ago;
And no dog barks as old Cooley used
to bark, and wait and hark
For an answer to come to him, challenging across the dark;
For old Cooley has lain buried in the
elm grove, years and years,
And the master of the log house—oh,
my eyes are wet with tears!

There were berries in the corners of the old worm fence back there,
Wild strawberries in the springtime,
and a boy with tousled hair
Used to get out in the morning to go fishing in the stream,
And smoke rose up from the chimney,
and the windows used to gleam
In the rosy light of morning, and a woman sang a song
In the kitchen—oh, the years have been so many and so long!
And the windows stare all broken, and
dead leaves are on the floor,
And there isn't any gladness in the log house any more!

MICHAEL X. MOCKUS

Michael X. Mockus, a Lithuanian lecturer, is on trial in Connecticut on the charge of blasphemy. The statute under which he is accused was adopted in 1642 in the days when the famous Connecticut blue laws were passed. It was hardly known to exist until some one had Mr. Mockus arrested for statements he publicly made, and took him before a magistrate. The case has been argued before the district court, and was adjourned to give the lawyers time to file briefs.

HOME.

There's a little bit o' log house on a little tree-clad hill,
And of nights the stars watch o'er it
and the lonesome whipporwill
Sends his plaintive call to find it, and
a huge beech bends above,
And it's just the sort of picture that
seems bulgin' full of love;
And a stream down in the valley seems
to call, and call, and call,
And its voice goes up the hill and where the elms stand straight
and tall,
But there are no lighted windows, and there is no sound of song.
And the roof is bent and broken, and
the years seem sad and long.

There's no light in any window in the
cottage on the hill,
And the door swings in the breezes,
and no foot is on the sill,
And the barn's a tumbling ruin, and
no roosters flap and crow
In the darkness, as they used to in the night-times long ago;
And no dog barks as old Cooley used
to bark, and wait and hark
For an answer to come to him, challenging across the dark;
For old Cooley has lain buried in the
elm grove, years and years,
And the master of the log house—oh,
my eyes are wet with tears!

There were berries in the corners of the old worm fence back there,
Wild strawberries in the springtime,
and a boy with tousled hair
Used to get out in the morning to go fishing in the stream,
And smoke rose up from the chimney,
and the windows used to gleam
In the rosy light of morning, and a
woman sang a song
In the kitchen—oh, the years have been so many and so long!
And the windows stare all broken, and
dead leaves are on the floor,
And there isn't any gladness in the log house any more!

ON TRIAL FOR BLASPHEMY

MICHAEL X. MOCKUS

Michael X. Mockus, a Lithuanian lecturer, is on trial in Connecticut on the charge of blasphemy. The statute under which he is accused was adopted in 1642 in the days when the famous Connecticut blue laws were passed. It was hardly known to exist until some one had Mr. Mockus arrested for statements he publicly made, and took him before a magistrate. The case has been argued before the district court, and was adjourned to give the lawyers time to file briefs.

Twenty-three operations are necessary in the washing and ironing of a collar.

TEACHERS ARE IN FAVOR OF FREE BOOKS

State Association Adopts Report of Committee Which Is Comprehensive

The Florida Educational association at the recent meeting in Arcadia adopted the report of a special committee which had been appointed at the 1915 convention in Tallahassee, favoring the adoption of a free text book plan for this state.

The committee, which made a thorough investigation of the subject, was made up of E. L. Robinson, principal of the Hillsborough high school, chairman; G. M. Lynch, I. I. Himes, W. A. Russell, G. W. Tedder, R. E. Hall and J. T. Diamond. Its report, which was adopted and endorsed by the convention at Arcadia, read as follows:

Whereas, the Florida Educational association at its last annual meeting on the 28th day of December, 1915, at Tallahassee, did pass the following resolution:

"Resolved, that a committee of six well known educators, who are versed in the needs of the common and high schools of the state, be appointed by the president of this association to investigate the subject of free text books, study the plans whereby free text books may be furnished, study the sources from which funds may be gotten to institute a system of free books, and such other questions as may be pertinent to the inauguration of a system of supplying free text books."

And, Whereas, the committee appointed for this purpose has investigated the matters mentioned in this resolution as thoroughly as it was possible to do under the circumstances, we, the committee duly appointed, beg leave to submit the following.

After as full an investigation as we have been able to make, we find from a report issued by the United States bureau of education in the latter part of 1915, that

"Free text books for all public elementary schools are fandatory in fifteen states; in eleven of these they are mandatory for public secondary schools as well. These eleven are: Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Wyoming. The four in which free text books need be furnished to all elementary school pupils only are Arizona, California, Utah and Vermont. In the District of Columbia there is no law, but books are furnished by the board of education free to all elementary school children."

This report further shows that

"In seventeen other states school districts may supply free books if they desire to do so; this applies to all districts in sixteen states, and to cities and union free districts only in New York. These permissive states are: Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Texas, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin. Texas was put in this list by the act of the 1915 legislature. A permissive law was passed in Oregon in 1913 but was repealed by the 1915 legislature. In all but five of these seventeen permissive states the question of whether or not free textbooks shall be furnished is decided by a majority vote of the legal voters of the individual school districts."

Since this report was issued the states of Mississippi and Georgia have passed laws allowing any local board of education to either furnish free text books or buy books and rent them to pupils for a nominal sum.

From our investigations we have reached the conclusion that a majority of the states that have the best school systems have already inaugurated free text books, and in practically all of the progressive states some legislation has already been passed looking to the ultimate extension of the free text book system to all children in those states. We feel that Florida should not lag behind her sister states in this movement for free text books. We do not deem it necessary to advance any arguments for free text books in this report, believing that all the members of this association and all true friends of public education already know that free text books are necessary in order to perfect our system of public education in Florida.

We recommend therefore, that the next session of the legislature be memoralized by this body to pass a free text book law for the state of Florida and to provide means for putting it into effect.

If the state can furnish the funds direct for this purpose, we recommend that it do s oand that the funds be apportioned among the counties on the basis of school population.

If it should prove impossible to secure direct from the state sufficient funds for this purpose, we recommend that authority be given to the county boards of education in each county in Florida to supplement any state funds they may receive with such funds as they may have in their possession available for this purpose, in order that a system of free text books may be instituted in each county in the state.

In investigating the cost of inaugurating a system of free text books in Florida, we have fortunately found the figures already at hand frof an official report made in the state of New York. In 1914 the legislature of the state of New York ordered an investigation of the cost of providing free text books in the schools of that state. The investigation was made on a basis of the cost of books in the city of New York over a term of years. New York city has eight grammar grades and four high school grades and the course of study is as full and complete as in any city, and the cost of books is as great as it would be under similar circumstances in any state or city in the union.

We quote from the report of this investigation, published in 1915, on page 29: "The result of this investigation demonstrates that the cost of installation of a system of furnishing free text books to all the pupils in the public schools of the state would be an average for each pupil, in elementary schools, $1.2348 and in secondary schools $4.8487, if purchased from private publishers at prices paid by the city of New York.

The cost of renewing for each pupil would average, in elementary schools, $0.5191, in secondary schools, $1.5833."

These figures are the result of a careful and exhaustive official investigation and we may accept their accuracy with perfect confidence. It will be seen therefore, that the cost of inaugurating a system of free text books and maintaining it in the state of Florida is not prohibitive and the expense is very much less than has been generally believed.

We recommend that all books for the public schools of Florida be bought by the county boards of education direct from the publishers at the lowest wholesale prices, and that a law be passed requiring the county boards of education to buy all books for use in the public schools direct from the publishers at the lowest net wholesale price. These books then to be sold, rented or furnished free to pupils.

We find that a number of states have such laws. Ohio has such a law which has been in force more than twenty years and has given the utmost satisfaction in that state. Similar laws have been passed by Mississippi and Georgia during the year 1916 and we respectfully call attention of the Florida legislature to the laws of these two southern states and recommend the passage of a similar law in Florida.

Drink--- P-I-N-A-P-A

If you are suffering from indigestion try a bottle of PINAPA just before your meal; it will do you no harm; it may do you lots of good. In Cuba it is used by many families as a table drink instead of wine. Our sales in Havana, Cuba, commencing January 1st, 1916, up to December 1st, 1916, was over 300,000 cases.

This proves its popularity.

PINAPA is the pure juice of our Florida pineapples made into syrup and carbonated.

P-I-N-A-P-A

is our leader and sold under its own label. We also put up pure fruit juices under our Miami Ocean Beach Brand.

TRY OUR PRUNELA

Prunela is made from pure Prune juice syrup, flavored with a touch of vanilla, carbonated.

It is Delicious—Try It.

SWEET APPLE CIDER

Our Sweet Apple Cider is made of pure juice from the Apples made into a syrup carbonated.

WANT 'DIMMER' LAW AS STATE MEASURE TO CUT OUT GLARE

Tampa Times: A proposed law to require automobile drivers to use dimmers while passing other vehicles on state and county highway will be one of the chief topics at the next meeting of the Central Florida Highway association, of which T. Ed Bryan is president and L. P. Dickie secretary, to be held in Orlando March 15. It is realized that the glare of headlights has caused numerous accidents throughout the country and in all probability the association will draft laws for the purpose of overcoming the objectionable feature. Another law which will probably be drafted is one requiring all vehicles to carry lights at night.

Automobiles are compelled to carry lights and it is felt that it is no more than right that horse drawn vehicles carry them also. Their absence in the past has caused a number of serious accidents. In all probability the one license question will come up for discussion. The legislature may be asked to look into this matter.

Standardization of quality of gasolene, a vital point to the automobile owner, is another thing in which the association is interested and which the legislature will be asked to act upon. The idea is to set a standard for gasoline and require all gasolene sold to meet the requirements of this standard. The gasolene sold in Florida is said to be of inferior quality and not up to the standard of other states having laws governing the question.

The association will also discuss the proposal of a bond issue to connect the road trunk lines of the state making a complete system. The proposed issue is to be state wide.

THE BOY'S STOMACH.

H. E. Barnard in the Indianapolis News: The boy's stomach, like his pocket, seems to have been designed as a receptacle for everything the owner, through whim or longing, may put into it. The boy's mother asserts he eats more than his father. The boy stoutly argues that his parents never give him a chance to learn how much he can eat.

The boy and his stomach are capable of great things, but they should not be tried too severely. The growing child needs large quantities of food and he is so active he can assimilate and digest food that would often try the stomach of an adult. But there is a limit to a boy's capacity, and the food should be carefully regulated by his parents.

Green apples are supposed to be the bane of a boy's existence. As a matter of fact green apples do not harm the boy because they are green, but because the boy eats more than he can possibly hold. That is the reason candy hurts children. It is not the quality but the quantity of candy that hurts them.

Cheap candies are not unwholesome. In fact, they are about as good as if they came in beribboned packages at a dollar a pound. A nickel will get half a pound of cheap candy. Eight ounces of candy is almost half a pound of sugar, twice as much as a child's stomach can begin to care for properly.

When the boy's stomach is out of sorts, empty it thoroughly, and then give it a rest. Don't worry about bad food; the probability is that the boy is suffering from overfeeding and not food poison.

ENTIRE HELLO TO KEY WEST DURING MONTH

Long Distance Line From Jacksonville to Island City Nearly Completed

PROJECT OF A YEAR

Many Difficulties, Among Which Were Mosquitoes of the Keys

The long distance telephone cable from Jacksonville by way of Miami and all the way to Key West, will, it is announced, be completed by the American Telephone and Telegraph company during the present month.

An additional cable from Key West to Cuba is also contemplated, the advices say.

The Florida Metropolis of Jacksonville, commenting on this enterprise, says:

"With 355 miles of cable stretched from Jacksonville to Miami and the last lap to Key West under construction, the long distance telephone service of the American Telephone and Telegraph company that will constitute a joining link with the proposed cable from Cuba, will be completed in about thirty days.

"Under the supervision of the local office of the Southern Bell Telephone company this work has been in progress since February, 1916, and approximately $500,000 has been expended. From Jacksonville to Key West the right of way of the Florida East Coast railway has been followed. When finished the line will be 522 miles long.

"Inability to get material has caused some delay on the Key West extension, as part of the cable used is manufactured in England. However, it is believed that the line will be completed in a month.

Service to Miami.

"Service is now being maintained from Jacksonville to Miami and towns along the way, with connections here for cities of other states. All towns have been connected on the line with the exception of Daytona, which will be connected as soon as a favorable ballot is cast January 16.

"Manager Boyd, of the Jacksonville office, stated that the line is one of the best constructed in the United States. At times as many as 150 men are at work. Considerable hardship was experienced on the keys last summer, where the mosquitoes made life miserable for the workmen. It was necessary to transport water to the men, and to this end engines of the Flagler system were used.

Jacksonville Office in Charge.

"The line will be operated out of this office by the Southern Bell Telephone company, as all long distance lines are,' said Mr. Boyd. 'Formerly we used leased wires of the Western Union down the state, but the direct line of our own will give a much better service.'

"A cable between Key West and Cuba is being contemplated and ultimately will be laid, said Mr. Boyd, in which instance the line between Jacksonville and the Island City will be utilized. Such a cable would connect the United States and Cuba by telephone and also connect Canada."

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK AND BEAUTIFUL

Look years younger! Try Grandma's recipe of Sage and Sulphur and nobody will know

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

TEACHERS ARE IN FAVOR OF FREE BOOKS

State Association Adopts Report of Committee Which Is Comprehensive

The Florida Educational association at the recent meeting in Arcadia adopted the report of a special committee which had been appointed at the 1915 convention in Tallahassee, favoring the adoption of a free text book plan for this state.

The committee, which made a thorough investigation of the subject, was made up of E. L. Robinson, principal of the Hillsborough high school, chairman; G. M. Lynch, I. I. Himes, W. A. Russell, G. W. Tedder, R. E. Hall and J. T. Diamond. Its report, which was adopted and endorsed by the convention at Arcadia, read as follows:

Whereas, the Florida Educational association at its last annual meeting on the 28th day of December, 1915, at Tallahassee, did pass the following resolution:

"Resolved, that a committee of six well known educators, who are versed in the needs of the common and high schools of the state, be appointed by the president of this association to investigate the subject of free text books, study the plans whereby free text books may be furnished, study the sources from which funds may be gotten to institute a system of free books, and such other questions as may be pertinent to the inauguration of a system of supplying free text books."

And, Whereas, the committee appointed for this purpose has investigated the matters mentioned in this resolution as thoroughly as it was possible to do under the circumstances, we, the committee duly appointed, beg leave to submit the following.

After as full an investigation as we have been able to make, we find from a report issued by the United States bureau of education in the latter part of 1915, that

"Free text books for all public elementary schools are fandatory in fifteen states; in eleven of these they are mandatory for public secondary schools as well. These eleven are: Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Wyoming. The four in which free text books need be furnished to all elementary school pupils only are Arizona, California, Utah and Vermont. In the District of Columbia there is no law, but books are furnished by the board of education free to all elementary school children."

This report further shows that

"In seventeen other states school districts may supply free books if they desire to do so; this applies to all districts in sixteen states, and to cities and union free districts only in New York. These permissive states are: Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Texas, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin. Texas was put in this list by the act of the 1915 legislature. A permissive law was passed in Oregon in 1913 but was repealed by the 1915 legislature. In all but five of these seventeen permissive states the question of whether or not free textbooks shall be furnished is decided by a majority vote of the legal voters of the individual school districts."

Since this report was issued the states of Mississippi and Georgia have passed laws allowing any local board of education to either furnish free text books or buy books and rent them to pupils for a nominal sum.

From our investigations we have reached the conclusion that a majority of the states that have the best school systems have already inaugurated free text books, and in practically all of the progressive states some legislation has already been passed looking to the ultimate extension of the free text book system to all children in those states. We feel that Florida should not lag behind her sister states in this movement for free text books. We do not deem it necessary to advance any arguments for free text books in this report, believing that all the members of this association and all true friends of public education already know that free text books are necessary in order to perfect our system of public education in Florida.

We recommend therefore, that the next session of the legislature be memoralized by this body to pass a free text book law for the state of Florida and to provide means for putting it into effect.

If the state can furnish the funds direct for this purpose, we recommend that it do s oand that the funds be apportioned among the counties on the basis of school population.

If it should prove impossible to secure direct from the state sufficient funds for this purpose, we recommend that authority be given to the county boards of education in each county in Florida to supplement any state funds they may receive with such funds as they may have in their possession available for this purpose, in order that a system of free text books may be instituted in each county in the state.

In investigating the cost of inaugurating a system of free text books in Florida, we have fortunately found the figures already at hand frof an official report made in the state of New York. In 1914 the legislature of the state of New York ordered an investigation of the cost of providing free text books in the schools of that state. The investigation was made on a basis of the cost of books in the city of New York over a term of years. New York city has eight grammar grades and four high school grades and the course of study is as full and complete as in any city, and the cost of books is as great as it would be under similar circumstances in any state or city in the union.

We quote from the report of this investigation, published in 1915, on page 29: "The result of this investigation demonstrates that the cost of installation of a system of furnishing free text books to all the pupils in the public schools of the state would be an average for each pupil, in elementary schools, $1.2348 and in secondary schools $4.8487, if purchased from private publishers at prices paid by the city of New York.

The cost of renewing for each pupil would average, in elementary schools, $0.5191, in secondary schools, $1,5833."

These figures are the result of a careful and exhaustive official investigation and we may accept their accuracy with perfect confidence. It will be seen therefore, that the cost of inaugurating a system of free text books and maintaining it in the state of Florida is not prohibitive and the expense is very much less than has been generally believed.

We recommend that all books for the public schools of Florida be bought by the county boards of education direct from the publishers at the lowest wholesale prices, and that a law be passed requiring the county boards of education to buy all books for use in the public schools direct from the publishers at the lowest net wholesale price. These books then to be sold, rented or furnished free to pupils.

We find that a number of states have such laws. Ohio has such a law which has been in force more than twenty years and has given the utmost satisfaction in that state. Similar laws have been passed by Mississippi and Georgia during the year 1916 and we respectfully call attention of the Florida legislature to the laws of these two southern states and recommend the passage of a similar law in Florida.

WANT 'DIMMER' LAW AS STATE MEASURE TO CUT OUT GLARE

Tampa Times: A proposed law to require automobile drivers to use dimmers while passing other vehicles on state and county highway will be one of the chief topics at the next meeting of the Central Florida Highway association, of which T. Fd Bryan is president and L. P. Dickie secretary, to be held in Orlando March 15. It is realized that the glare of headlights has caused numerous accidents throughout the country and in all probability the association will draft laws for the purpose of overcoming the objectionable feature. Another law which will probably be drafted is one requiring all vehicles to carry lights at night.

Automobiles are compelled to carry lights and it is felt that it is no more than right that horse drawn vehicles carry them also. Their absence in the past has caused a number of serious accidents. In all probability the one license question will come up for discussion. The legislature may be asked to look into this matter.

Standardization of quality of gasolene, a vital point to the automobile owner, is another thing in which the association is interested and which the legislature will be asked to act upon. The idea is to set a standard for gasoline and require all gasolene sold to meet the requirements of this standard. The gasolene sold in Florida is said to be of inferior quality and not up to the standard of other states having laws governing the question.

The association will also discuss the proposal of a bond issue to connect the road trunk lines of the state making a complete system. The proposed issue is to be state wide.

THE BOY'S STOMACH.

H. E. Barnard in the Indianapolis News: The boy's stomach, like his pocket, seems to have been designed as a receptacle for everything the owner, through whim or longing, may put into it. The boy's mother asserts he eats more than his father. The boy stoutly argues that his parents never give him a chance to learn how much he can eat.

The boy and his stomach are capable of great things, but they should not be tried too severely. The growing child needs large quantities of food and he is so active he can assimilate and digest food that would often try the stomach of an adult. But there is a limit to a boy's capacity, and the food should be carefully regulated by his parents.

Green apples are supposed to be the bane of a boy's existence. As a matter of fact green apples do not harm the boy because they are green, but because the boy eats more than he can possibly hold. That is the reason candy hurts children. It is not the quality but the quantity of candy that hurts them.

Cheap candies are not unwholesome. In fact, they are about as good as if they came in beribboned packages at a dollar a pound. A nickel will get half a pound of cheap candy. Eight ounces of candy is almost half a pound of sugar, twice as much as a child's stomach can begin to care for properly.

When the boy's stomach is out of sorts, empty it thoroughly, and then give it a rest. Don't worry about bad food; the probability is that the boy is suffering from overfeeding and not food poison.
